

Republicans And Governor Trade Blows In Press

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING, Mich.—(AP)—Governor Williams' old days of keeping the Republicans off balance with a barrage of press statements seems to have ended. The G. O. P. is fighting back on many fronts.

Although not always as droitt or as well-timed, the Republican press statement onslaught by sheer weight of numbers is beginning to tell.

Just who is winning, of course, cannot be told until November, but gone are the days when the Republicans fumbled out with a weak reply several days late to one of Williams' cute little cuts at them.

First Volley Monday

The past week or 10 days was a good example of how the tide is running.

Before the janitor got the shades raised in the capitol Monday morning, Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr., was out with his umpteenth blast at Williams over the Southern Michigan prison riots.

State G. O. P. Chairman Owen J. Cleary rolled up the second wave with a radio address in Detroit which hung more tin cans around Williams neck relative to the riot and the prison administration.

Senator G. Elwood Bonine (R-Vandalia) cut loose at Williams over the riot, too. Senator Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) roared into action when Williams vetoed the unemployment compensation bill, Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) fired a volley over Williams' veto of the used car tax. Speaker of the House Victor A. Knox arose in his wrath when Williams vetoed the constitutional convention bill, Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, Jr., and Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg slipped the press copies of speeches which

Big British Jet Carries Payload

ENTEBBE, Uganda — (AP) — Britain's jet airliner, the De Havilland Comet, whined seven miles high across African jungles and plains today, making aviation history with the world's first commercial jet service.

Aboard was a full payload of 36 passengers, mail and baggage, bound from London to Johannesburg, South Africa—a span of 6,724 miles—in a scheduled time of 23 hours and 40 minutes. Six hours of it was carded for ground stops at five way stations.

The Dolphin-bodied, blue and white airliner, her four jet engines whistling in the morning air, slipped into Entebbe, 4437 air miles from London, "bang on time," BOAC reported proudly.

She got here at 9 a. m. (2 a. m. EST) and left an hour and five minutes later for Livingstone, Rhodesia—last stop before Johannesburg.

She had landed at Khartoum's airport, beside the Upper Nile, at 3:33 a. m., 22 minutes ahead of schedule, but lost an extra 46 minutes on the ground and had to make up 24 minutes in the 1,090 mile leg to Entebbe.

The Comet's scheduled time to Johannesburg lopped 6½ hours off the time of propellered airliners.

Traffic At Straits Rises 18.8 Per Cent

LANSING — (AP)—Ferry traffic across the Straits of Mackinac rose 1.8 per cent in the first four months of this year, the State Highway Department reported today.

State ferries carried 75,329 vehicles across the Straits between Jan. 1 and April 28, compared with 63,387 in the same period last year.

Foreign Aid Program Top Congressional Item For Next Week

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman's foreign aid program will become a top congressional subject next week, with legislators talking of cutting funds and adding certain "ifs" to the assistance that may be voted.

The Senate will begin floor consideration Monday of a bill lopping one billion dollars from the president's request for $7,900,000,000 for the year ending June 30, 1953.

Restrictions Added

The Senate bill, approved by its foreign relations committee, contains detailed cuts but no restrictions.

The House Foreign Affairs committee opened consideration of its measure yesterday by discussing several amendments, some proposing stronger conditions to assistance abroad.

One of them, yet to be considered, would gear foreign aid to the tangible progress made by European nations toward unification. It will be offered by Reps. Zablocki (D-Wis.), Kelly (D-NY) and Merrow (R-NH).

There was no indication whether it would be adopted finally by the committee or the House.

A similar restriction passed the House last year.

Chairman Richards (D-SC) said no decisions were made during yesterday's session, which was devoted to discussing all sections

White House TV Program Today

By Jerry T. Baugh

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman takes a national audience on a personally-conducted television tour of the White House today in an unprecedented broadcast.

Never before has the TV eye roamed room-to-room about the historic mansion. Never before has a President shown "his home" to so many people.

Truman, acting as host, guide and narrator, will explain what was done in the recently completed $5,700,000 renovation job.

And being a history scholar—particularly about past Presidents—he'll be able to add intimate notes few professional narrators would have the chance to discover.

NBS and CBS television cameras will follow him through 10 or 11 rooms for a full hour—3 to 4 p. m. Eastern standard time.

The tour will not include the upstairs bedrooms, sitting rooms and solarium. The TV audience will see just about the same thing thousands of tourists view when they visit Washington.

The White House was re-opened to the public about 10 days ago after being closed for several years during its fact lifting.

Agreement Believed Near For Ending Steel Dispute

Staydown Flier May Resign And Escape Prison

WASHINGTON — (AP)—An Air Force officer facing a two-year prison term for refusal to fly has submitted his resignation and will escape the sentence, if permitted to quit, says Biggs Air Force base at El Paso, Tex.

But the Air Force here offered no official comment and declined to say whether this would set a pattern for handling other stay-down fliers.

The resignation of Lt. Verne Goodwin was announced by Biggs officials a few hours after his father-in-law Parker Cullom of Las Cruces, N. M., told an informal Pentagon news conference Goodwin would be allowed to resign "for the good of the service."

The Texas airbase report said acceptance of Goodwin's resignation would mean that he would not have to serve two years in prison at hard labor with loss of pay, but his discharge "must be under conditions other than honorable."

Goodwin, in asking to be excused from flying, said his wife's health was threatened by worry over his flights at a time when she was pregnant.

Great Lakes Ore Carriers Resume Normal Operations

CLEVELAND — (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steamship Co. reported today that its Great Lakes fleet has resumed full operations.

Activities of other fleets that had been hampered by the steel strike also were reported returning to normal.

The Lake Carriers Association had said that because of the unloading problem created by the strike, many ore shipping firms were operating vessels on a day to day basis.

Most of the unloading docks are operated by the steel mills. Railroads operate some docks, but most of these do not have storage facilities.

Chile Cancels Pact To Sell U. S. Copper

SANTIAGO, Chile — (AP)—Chile last night broke off a year-old agreement to sell 80 per cent of her copper at a fixed price to the United States and announced she will enter the world's free market May 8 with her whole output.

The Andes country's mines—controlled almost completely by two U. S. companies—have a yearly output of 400,000 tons, one-fifth of the world's production of the strategic metal. Some of the mines have been paralyzed by a strike for higher wages by 12,500 workers.

Under the agreement, Chile funneled 80 per cent of her copper to the U. S. at the fixed U. S. ceiling price of 27½ cents a pound for foreign copper. She was free to sell the remaining 20 per cent on the world market, where the price has been as high as 50 cents. The companies pay Chile a royalty of three cents a pound on their total production.

The Chilean cabinet announced that it cancelled its 1951 agreement with the American firms because it wants a higher price to earn more dollars for foreign exchange and to pay higher wages to end the strike.

New Attempt Planned To Mediate Walkout Of Western Union

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The government will make another attempt next Wednesday (9 a. m. EST) to mediate the month-old Western Union strike.

Cyrus S. Ching, mediation service director, asked company and Commercial Telegraphers Union (AFL) representatives to meet with a three-man conciliation panel. The three are Marvin Sconyers and James Holden, both of Washington, and J. R. Mandelbaum of New York.

The telegraphers struck April 3 demanding a 16 - cents hourly wage hike plus reduced working hours for some employees

Air Force Curtails Flying As Gasoline Pinch Spreads

DENVER — (AP)—The Air Force has issued orders slicing flying hours outside the Korean theater because of the strike of about 80,000 refinery and pipeline oil industry workers.

"Because of the strike in the petroleum industry," a two-sentence statement from the Air Force read, "The U. S. Air Force has issued orders curtailing flying activity."

"Due to air force stock levels, all flying outside the Korean theater is restricted to the minimum required to continue training, perform essential command mis-

Rookie Guard Gets Blame In Jackson Riot

JACKSON, Mich. — (AP)—Governor Williams' fact-finding committee was convinced today that a rookie guard opened the wrong cell door at the wrong time to touch off the violent Southern Michigan prison mutiny and rioting last week.

But it called more guards and prison officials to testify today in an effort to determine who was primarily responsible for the error.

Warden, J. N. F. F. indicated that the inquiry opened yesterday that an inexperienced guard such as 24-year-old Thomas Elliott should not have been assigned to disciplinary cell block 15, which the prison's toughest convicts converted into a fortress for their rebellion.

Earlier investigation had disclosed that Elliott had unlocked a cell in the block at the request of inmate Ray Young. Young then put a knife to Elliott's back and forced him to surrender keys used to release other prisoners in the block, and the mutiny was on.

The fact-finders, headed by Lester Dodd of Detroit, asked how Young got possession of the knife.

Frisbie replied: "I would like to know that, too. Each cell is shaken down once a week and when inmates are given yard privileges they are shaken down when they are returned to their cells."

Elliott told the committee he had not heard of any order not to unlock any of block 15 cells. He said guards were forced to "learn as you go" about what should or should not be done.

Taft Winds Up Ohio Campaign

CLEVELAND — (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft returned to Cleveland today to wind up his Ohio campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

He had a busy schedule mapped out for his remaining two days in the state.

A morning news conference, a speech at a school, a television interview and an appearance at a city club show headed today's program.

Tomorrow he will speak at a Lithuanian rally and at a high school and then board a night train for Washington.

The Ohio primary, in which he has a full slate of 56 delegate candidates entered, is Tuesday.

Last night, Taft told a Republican rally in Toledo that the basic thinking behind the country's entire defense program is wrong.

"Our first priority," he said, "must be the building of an Air Force able to maintain control of the air over this continent and over the oceans that surround this continent, and able to deliver atom bombs on Russian bases."

The Cincinnati senator said priority No. 2 is the Army and Navy and priority No. 3 aid to Europe.

sions and perform absolutely essential administrative flights."

Earlier, Eighth Air Force headquarters at Carswell Air Force base near Fort Worth, Tex., had ordered a "considerable cutback" in flying of its largest bombers.

Commercial Lines Worried

The B-36 heavy bombers are limited to 20 hours flying monthly for the duration of the strike, effective today. Other limitations place 15 hours monthly on B-29 and B-50 medium bombers and 10 hours on fighter planes. The B-36, designed to carry the atom bomb, has a fuel capacity of more than 21,000 gallons.

Routine training flights have been curtailed at the Air Training Command at Scott AFB, Belleville, Ill.

At Mitchell Field (N. Y.) Air Force base not a plane went up yesterday. Only transient planes were being serviced, and very few of them. Normally, the base has an average of 30 to 35 flights daily.

Some commercial airlines reportedly had less than 30 hours supply of aviation gasoline on hand when the strike of 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions began at midnight Tuesday.

A spokesman for the Air Transport Association said most lines are "moving heaven and earth" in efforts to build up and effectively ration out their supplies.

Pay Boost Demanded

Meanwhile, there was little progress in plant-by-plant negotiations. The coalition of unions, headed by the Oil Workers International Union in Denver, is seeking a 26-cent hourly wage hike and in-

Well-Oiled Machine To Hand Williams Favorite-Son Toga

LANSING — (AP)—A well-oiled political machine will wrap the favorite-son toga around Governor G. Mennen Williams at the Michigan Democratic convention in Grand Rapids next Saturday.

Party leaders reported the Williams administration will be in complete control and that the convention looks like a calm summer afternoon, unlike the stormy Democratic conventions of the past.

County and district delegates will choose eighty delegates—each with half a vote—to the party's national convention in Chicago and endorse Williams for the

Agreement Fails In Korean Truce

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
MUNSAN, Korea — (AP)—The brevity of today's secret full dress Korean armistice negotiations led to speculation that the Communists have, in effect, rejected an Allied "package" proposal for solving a deadlock.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, United Nations command spokesman, said after the session it was obvious no agreement was reached on the U. N. overall solution.

Nuckols said the 24-minute meeting in Panmunjon was conducted in an atmosphere "coolly impersonal."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, No. 1 Red negotiator, did most of the talking.

When Nam finished reading a prepared statement, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior U. N. delegate, replied briefly and suggested a recess until tomorrow.

The fact that Joy was willing to meet again so soon suggested that Nam's statements required little if any study.

Last Monday the U. N. handed the Reds a package proposal for settling the issues of prisoner exchange, airfield rehabilitation during an armistice and Russian participation in truce supervision.

Rep. Richards Better; Has Virus Infection

LANSING, Mich. — (AP)—The condition of Rep. Alvin E. Richards (R-Marquette) was reported as "fairly good" at the Lansing Edward W. Sparrow Hospital today.

Richards was taken to the hospital when he collapsed Thursday as the Legislature was convening. Physicians reported that Richards did not have a heart attack, as was originally diagnosed but was ill of a virus infection.

City Raises Wages

DETROIT — (AP)—The Detroit city council added $607,000 to the wages and pensions of 6,000 police and firemen Friday before passing a record of $100,190,000. The councilmen also approved $22,500 for the their own traveling expenses and salary increases for accountants, analysts, appraisers, engineers, chemists and foresters.

Wages May Be Raised Monday By Government

WASHINGTON — (AP)—President Truman told steel industry leaders today that the government is prepared to boost worker wages Monday unless the industry reaches agreement with the union before then.

The President disclosed the government's aims in a nine minute talk to union and industry leaders.

His remarks opened White House negotiations seeking a solution to the long pending labor dispute that has brought seizure of the industry and a bitter court fight.

"The government will be prepared on Monday morning, or as soon as we can get ready, to order changes in terms and conditions of employment to be put into effect," Truman said in opening the dramatic meeting.

A text of his remarks was made public by the White House an hour and 45 minutes after the meeting began.

About the time the President met with union and management leaders at the White House, the steel companies presented to the Supreme Court a new plea for quick final settlement of the seizure issue. Their memorandum, filed in connection with the government's appeal from a district court injunction against the administration action, also asking for an order to stop the very pay raise Truman said was coming.

Truman said he didn't want to have the government fix terms and conditions of employment for the steel industry under government seizure.

"But we will have no choice if you cannot agree," Truman said.

All Hopeful

The Wage Stabilization Board has proposed for the industry an immediate pay raise of 12½ cents an hour with two boosts of 2½ cents each by next January, plus "fringe" benefits amounting to some 8½ cents. The government

GOP Gang Worse Than Reds, Truman Claims

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Republicans today accused President Truman of using "sneaky tactics" in saying they are trying to "sneak into office by the back door" and that "political gangsters" (who) are worse than Communists' are besmirching government workers' reputations.

Truman made the charges last night in a hard-hitting speech—he called it "a lesson in politics"—at the 70th anniversary meeting of the National Civil Service League.

The President said he believed the "political gangsters" who he said have lied under protection of Congressional immunity are "as grave a menace as the Communists."

Departing from his prepared text, he said:

"I think they are worse than Communists. In fact, I think they are partners with them."

He named no names, but he has fired similar criticism in the past at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and others in Congress who contended Communists and Red sympathizers have worked their way into federal jobs.

McCarthy, asked for comment on Truman's remarks, said in Milwaukee: "I don't like to talk about the dead." He declined to say more.

The President also let fly at Republicans for attempting to capitalize politically, he said, on corruption-in-government charges. As the November elections come nearer, Truman said, "the opposition is becoming frantic," and so they have launched a campaign to make people think that the government service as a whole is lazy, inefficient, corrupt and even disloyal."

Commenting on the speech, Sen. Nixon (R-Calif.) said the President had resorted to "sneaky tactics for political purposes," and added:

"Let the public recall that this is the same man who called the Alger Hiss case a 'red herring seven times.'"

Hiss, a former State Department official, is in jail for perjury. He was convicted of having lied in saying he never furnished secret government papers to a Red spy ring.

Oliver Lund Heads Rapid River PTA

RAPID RIVER — Oliver Lund was elected president of the Rapid River Parent Teacher Association at the closing meeting of the school year held Wednesday evening. Robert Olson is the new vice president, Mrs. Carlyle Holmgren is secretary and Mrs. Bert Bascik, treasurer.

The committee in charge was authorized to buy and install a sink in the school kitchen during the summer months. Mrs. K. C. Scott was appointed chairman of the lunch committee for the PTA dance.

The program consisted of a one act play presented by Mr. Olsen's class. Lunch was served during the social hour.

Mrs. Stadel's room again won the traveling prize which enables them to keep the plaque.

Illinois Governor Still Says No To Presidential Lure

SACRAMENTO—(AP)—Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois dropped in last night from Oregon, still saying no to suggestions he might be drafted to be a Democratic presidential candidate.

In Portland, he said: "I spent the greatest part of the evening trying to persuade them not to vote for me."

His name was entered in the Oregon primary and it can't be taken off.

Stevenson, who will visit tomorrow with Governor Warren, a Republican presidential candidate, also said he is not in California for political purposes.

Upon being advised that Oregon Democratic National Committeeman Monroe Sweetland had said he believed "the door is open to a draft," Stevenson said, in an interview: "That's Mr. Sweetland's observation. I tried to impress him otherwise."

Estimate City Budget At $786,940 For Year

Escanaba's estimated budget for 1952-53 is $786,940.62, an increase of $58,910.70 above the present fiscal year, and balanced by anticipated increased revenues, it is reported to the City Council by City Manager A. V. Aronson.

The proposed budget was submitted to the Council by the Manager Thursday night and is now receiving Council study. Several special meetings have been scheduled for budget review.

Following study the budget will be before the Council for public hearing and adoption on May 15.

Revenues Show Increase

As recommended by the city manager the budget is a balanced one, with estimated revenues covering estimated expenditures.

Revenues in the coming fiscal year are expected to increase by $58,910—the same amount as shown in the proposed budget.

Tax collections are expected to increase from $234,593 to $238,195; utilities revenue from $257,588 to $260,191; revenues from the state from $198,100 to $237,318; and other miscellaneous revenues from $34,875 to $50,234 in the coming fiscal year, the city manager estimates.

Most For Streets

Because of increased state aid for city streets the city has been able to embark upon a program of curb and gutter construction and blacktopping. In the year ahead the city is budgeting $190,912.27 for highway fund, largest single item in the proposed budget.

The itemized budget of the last fiscal year and the proposed proposed budget for 1952-53 fiscal year is as follows:

Chickens Help Cut U. S. Defense Costs

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON—(AP)—America's chickens are helping cut down the cost of the nation's defense program, says a munitions board official.

Franklin P. Huddle told a news conference yesterday that 10-cent-a-pound chicken feathers are being used instead of $1.50-a-pound wool to make military sleeping bags and bed covers.

Huddle, chief of the conservation division of the board's office of materials, did not refer to recent Congressional criticism of military waste but he made it clear the savings were substantial in the chicken feather shift.

He said two pounds of chicken feathers serve the purpose of about a pound of wool—20 cents compared with $1.50.

He said a recently developed technique of deodorizing the feathers and making them fluffy and better able to hold a shape made possible the substitution for wool.

Wool is not only expensive, he said, but the United States has to import much of its supplies. On the other hand, the U. S. has so many chicken feathers it exports about 100 million pounds a year.

Huddle also said the board is conserving the nation's dwindling supply of lead by designing machines and equipment to use other metals.

Huddle said that at the current rate of lead consumption, production and imports, domestic reserves would be exhausted within eight years.

"If no new discoveries are made, measures will have to be taken to increase the supply or to design out of lead," Huddle said.

Karas Music Shell Group Meets Monday

Members of the Karas Memorial Bandshell committee and the bandshell architectural committee of the City Planning Commission will meet at 5 p. m. Monday in city recreation center.

The group will discuss proposed sites for the bandshell in Ludington Park, a matter placed before the Planning Commission for recommendation.

The Planning Commission's architectural committee includes T. Dale Vinette, Richard Hoyer and Robert Clayton.

Roy Pearson is chairman of the Bandshell Committee, which is also scheduled to discuss a proposed Karas Memorial Festival at Ludington Park this summer.

New Enlistment Rule Explained

The Department of Defense today announced the plans of the military services for extension of enlistments which became effective for Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine personnel last month.

Under the new ruling all enlistments, whether on active duty or not, normally expiring between July 1 of 1952 and June 30 of 1953 were extended for a maximum of nine months.

Specifically excluded from the extension were personnel whose enlistments had been previously involuntarily extended, personnel inducted through the Selective Service system and Selective Service registrants who enlisted for a period of 24 months or less.

In announcing the order, the Department of Defense pointed out that it applied to all components of the armed forces including the reserves and National Guard, but that the maximum authorized active duty tours of Reservists and National Guardsmen were not lengthened.

Here's an example of the extension ruling, as it would apply to a member of the armed forces whose normal enlistment would expire this month:

If he were in the Army his new discharge date would be November, 1952; if he were in the Navy, March, 1953; in the Air Force, December, 1952; in the Marines, October, 1952.

The same ratio of extension would follow if he were to be normally discharged next month. As an example, a Marine due for normal discharge in June of 1952 would be discharged in November of 1952 under the new ruling.

Bitten By Dog—Robert S. Trombley, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trombley of 214 North 13th St., yesterday was bitten in the back and right arm by a dog whose owner has not been determined. Police placed the dog in confinement for rabies observation.

April Ore Shipment—A report of the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association shows that 505,449 gross tons of iron ore were shipped from the C&NW docks here in April. Total tonnage out of the port of Escanaba was slightly lower than last year's April volume of 625,119 tons, due in part to curtailment of operations contingent on the strike in the steel industry and to cold weather.

Concert Booked At Bark River

Sponsored by the Bark River Lions Club, a barber shop song concert will be presented at the Bark River Community Hall next Saturday night, May 10 at 8:30 p. m.

The program will be supplied by the Bay de Noc chorus of the Escanaba SPEBSQSA, chapter, a group of singers who first appeared in Bark River last year for a St. Patrick's concert.

Carl A. Ahlin of Bark River, Lions Club chairman making arrangements for the event, announced that the program next Saturday night would include selections by the full chorus of 40 voices, octet numbers, quartet selections, and novelty acts.

The Bark River Lions are extending an invitation to residents of Escanaba and all surrounding communities to attend the show.

Cornell Man Fined For Drunk Driving

Eino Huhta of Cornell Rt. 1 today pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs of $8.25 or serve 30 days in jail. He is arranging to pay.

Escanaba police arrested Huhta at 6 p. m. yesterday at First Ave. S. and 10th St. after the truck Huhta was driving almost collided with several autos. The drive was lodged in jail overnight.

Aunt Addie, 82, Falls 45 Feet In Cistern But Gets Out Again

AGENCY, Mo.—(AP)—Eighty-two-year-old Mrs. Addie Lower has proved she is made of stern stuff.

Mrs. Lower, who is better known around here as "Aunt Addie," was drawing water from a well at her home north of here. The well cover gave way and she toppled 45 feet into the water.

Nearly four hours later a niece, Mrs. Hattie Clouser, stopped at the Lower home and heard her aunt calling for help.

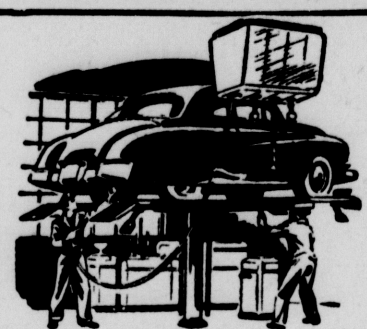

She found the elderly woman had climbed 15 feet out of the water by clinging to the waterpipe and bracing her feet against the wall of the well.

Mrs. Clouser summoned two neighbors. They dropped a rope into the well and Aunt Addie tied it under her arms. Then they hauled her out.

A doctor was called. Although he found Aunt Addie had suffered only bruises and muscle strain, he advised her to go to bed. She refused.

"I've got company," Aunt Addie explained.

Concert Series Sales Planned

The annual Community Concert membership campaign will be held next week, Monday through Friday, it has been announced by Don Guindon, chairman.

A kickoff dinner for captains and workers will be held Monday evening at 6:30 at the House of Ludington. A representative of the Community Concert Association will attend and will outline prospective programs available for the 1952-53 concert series.

As in past years, only season tickets for the series will be sold and no tickets to individual concerts will be available. The season ticket sale will be confined to the coming week and no season tickets will be sold after the campaign has been concluded. At least three concerts will be presented during the 1952-53 season and the selections will be made at the conclusion of the ticket-selling campaign.

Captains for the drive follow: Mrs. Evelyn Lavelle, Mrs. Nyal Witham, Mrs. John Greene, Mrs. John Anthony, Mrs. Nicky Traverser, Mrs. Frank Neumeier, Mrs. Emil Neumann, Miss Josephine Saykly and Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, Escanaba; Miss Alice Holmgren, Rapid River; Mrs. Al Johnson, Bark River; Mrs. Florence McGonagle, Gladstone; Rev. Paul Sobel, Manistique.

National Guard Men Begin Rifle Range Training Tomorrow

Company C of the local National Guard unit will begin annual pre-encampment rifle training tomorrow on the Federally-owned rifle range four miles north of Gladstone.

After tomorrow's preparatory operations, the company will travel to the rifle range on the succeeding Sundays in May to train in the firing of the Garand rifle, the carbine, a .45 caliber sub-machine gun and a .30 caliber air-cooled machine gun.

Spectators are invited to the outdoor drills. Improvements on the road leading to range will be made tomorrow and safety markers will be set up for the convenience of visitors.

Burial Rites Monday For AP Science Writer

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held Monday for Howard W. Blakeslee, 72, Associated Press science editor and Pulitzer Prize winner.

Blakeslee, active until death, died of coronary thrombosis yesterday at his home here.

Winner of numerous honors, he was a pioneer in making science clear to the layman. He had a genius for translating difficult scientific terms into simple words.

He had been a member of the Associated Press staff since 1905 and had been science editor since 1927.

Private services will be conducted at 1 p. m. (EST) Monday at First Methodist church here. Burial will be in Nassau Knolls, a Port Washington cemetery.

FIRE DANGER has reached an all-time peak as is graphically shown in the chart above, prepared by Paul St. Amant, assistant forest supervisor, Upper Michigan National Forest. The danger reading yesterday at noon had reached 91, a figure based on relative humidity, wind velocity, number of days since the last rain, amount of last rain and vegetation conditions. For the past seven days fire dangers have been in the extreme category and are getting progressively more explosive. The present reading is the highest ever recorded by St. Amant. Forest Service and Conservation officials are urging all forest travelers to be extremely careful in the woods since the slightest mistake may result in disastrous fire.

Lamprey Weir On Squaw Creek

An electrical weir to combat sea lamprey has been installed in the Squaw Creek on the Stonington Peninsula by the Fish and Wildlife Service, it has been announced.

The Squaw Creek weir is one of six installed by the government as an experiment in meeting the lamprey menace. Others are located on the Carp Creek in Presque Isle County, the Ocqueoc River in Presque Isle County, Chocoy River in Marquette County, Hibbard Creek, Door County, Wisconsin and Kewaunee River, Kewaunee County, Wisconsin.

All of the installations incorporate electrical devices of one type or another designed to block or capture lamprey spawning runs.

Each of the control sites is well protected by a high wire fence and locked gates and are amply marked with warning signs. The Wildlife Service emphasizes that there is considerable danger in electrical fields introduced into water and the public is urged to stay out of the marked areas of the stream where this work is being done. The government assumes no liability for injuries to trespassers and violators.

Bronze Nude Placed Over Carroll's Tomb

GLENDAL, Calif.—(AP)—A life size statue of a nude woman, cast in bronze 37 years ago by Adolph Weinman, German sculptor, has been placed above the tomb of showman Earl Carroll in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

The ashes of Carroll and his principal showgirl, Beryl Wallace, who died with him in a Pennsylvania airliner crash in 1948, are to be placed in the tomb.

Executors of the showman's estate purchased the statue, "Winged Hope," for $50,000, which was set aside in Carroll's will for that purpose.

High Forest Fire Hazard Calls For Extreme Caution In Woods

VETERAN foresters report that they have never seen the forest fire hazard as high in this area as it is now, or at least as high as it was yesterday when these words were written.

The fire hazard was 91 yesterday, an extremely explosive condition. Any rating in excess of 50 is regarded as extremely high.

Fortunately, despite the high hazard forest fire losses have not been great. Credit for this must go to the public for the extreme care when travelling through wooded areas. The fire watch is being vigorously maintained and crews are ready to dart to any fire that may break out.

Great progress has been made in reforestation in the Upper Peninsula. Good timber stands have replaced barren areas but all of this could be quickly lost by a fast moving fire.

The high fire hazard that now exists is

Britain Reinstates Some Medical Fees

THE people of Great Britain are learning—the hard way, unfortunately—one of the facts of life, that you can't get something for nothing.

The new government in Britain has decided to charge patients for some health services that formerly, under the Labor government, were provided without direct fee. These include dental treatment, false teeth, surgical appliances, etc.

The cost of providing all of these services to patients on a feeless basis has proved too burdensome for the government to absorb. It has created quite an issue in Britain. Free and easy spending for health services of all kinds has not been cheap for the British people. On the contrary, it has been expensive because socialized medicine is bound to be expensive as well as unsatisfactory.

Britain is in financial trouble today and has no recourse except to cut out some of the frills of free medicine. Some of its financial difficulties, of course, stem from the fact that too much money is being spent on socialized medicine.

Prison Guards' Demands To Be Presented

IT is not surprising that the union representing the prison guards at Jackson prison has framed some demands to be made upon behalf of the guards and to be presented to state officials.

After all if prisoners in the process of a mutiny can issue a slate of demands and make them stick, why can't the guards?

Questions and Answers

Q—How far does the Arctic tern fly in its migration?

A—The Arctic tern flies farther in its migration than any other bird known. Some travel 22,000 miles in a year, from the Arctic Circle to the Antarctic Circle and back again.

Q—Why are the rivers of Nova Scotia little traveled?

A—They are narrow and short, seldom more than 50 miles in length.

Q—For whom was Downing Street in London named?

A—Downing Street bears the name of an American. It was named for George Downing, a Harvard graduate, who settled in London, where he was most successful.

UNCLE EF

Seems there have been a lot of resignations of men from government jobs because they said they had to get out and make a living for their families. It leaves them open to suspicion—that is, the suspicion of being honest.

Godliness In Daily Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

When we speak of a man as being "a godly man," what do we mean?

We are sure that he is essentially a reverent man, with a true sense of holiness. We know that he would not take the name of God in vain, as so many today do, in careless, casual conversation, or in deep, intended oaths.

He is probably a good church-man, who goes to church regularly, who manifests good moral living, and who is outwardly correct in ritual observances, and in the conventional requirements of the religion he professes.

But is that all there is to godliness? We know from very high authority that it is not.

We have the story of the rich young man, how he might inherit eternal life (Mark 10:17-22). He was probably more correct in his way of life than even most men of conventional goodness. Yet he lacked the one most essential thing.

"Where your treasure is," said Jesus, "there will your heart be also" (Matthew 6:21). And where your heart is, there is your real religion, no matter how much you profess that it is elsewhere.

The young man's supreme attachment was to his great possessions, which in his ultimate decision he chose rather than companionship with Jesus, and the possibility of becoming the twelfth Apostle, caused by a combination of many factors. A long drought and unusually warm weather are major causes but the season itself is contributory to the high hazard. It is still too early for green foliage, either on the ground or on the deciduous trees.

The first and most important requirement, of course, is a rain of general application, one that would bring at least a half-inch of precipitation. None of us can do anything about this except to pray for rain.

We can, however, continue to be careful in the woods as long as the high fire hazard exists. The greatest single threat to the forests now is the smoker, the careless individual who tosses a lighted cigarette to the ground. This is an invitation to disaster.

Other Editorial Comments

STATE JOBLESS PAY HIGHEST (Milwaukee Journal)

It is interesting to note, from a release by the Commerce Clearing House news bureau, that Wisconsin continues to pay the highest straight unemployment compensation benefits of any state.

One of the criticisms of the "experience rating" system of unemployment compensation, which Wisconsin has, is that it tends to pay lower benefits for a shorter period than the general fund type favored by the federal social security people.

This is just not true here in Wisconsin. Maximum Wisconsin benefits now run to $795 for a single period of unemployment. That is tops.

The worker who loses his job is thus better off here than elsewhere. Furthermore, under our system, he is less likely to lose his job, for the employer with little labor turnover, once he has built up his unemployment compensation fund, pays in only enough to keep it up to requirements.

Under the plan favored by the federal people—a plan which they hope one day to make nation-wide—the steady employer pays as much as the employer with the worst employment record. It is all averaged. The result is that the worker gets less, there is little encouragement to keep jobs stable and the good employer suffers.

Is it any wonder that the state's which have copied Wisconsin's system are bucking federalization? Is it any wonder that labor in those states is helping in the attack?

FAKE THEOLOGY DEGREES (Marquette Eagle Star)

A Marquette clergyman was rather surprised when he was told recently that fake theology degrees are for sale by diploma mills. This was borne out by a report to the national Conference on Higher Education which ended its annual meeting in Chicago a few days ago.

Many of the fraudulent schools specialize in the issuance of fake theology degrees that can be obtained merely by the writing of a "thesis" and at a variable cost to the student, but the average cost is about $250. In other words, some of the "doctor" degrees of clergymen are thus obtained by the short-cut and fraudulent means.

The fraud has operated to the extent that "a number of persons with phony theology degrees" have succeeded in getting into the Chaplain Corps of the armed forces, the report points out.

The diploma mills apparently are most prevalent in Illinois and Iowa and efforts to end the racket are made difficult by the unwillingness of persons who had been victimized to testify against the fraudulent schools. In many instances, the report said, the victims are ashamed or even afraid to press a complaint. In most instances, it is probable, the shame of being exposed as the beneficiary of a fake degree accounts for their unwillingness to testify.

Support of exposing the diploma mills has come from the American Association of Theological Schools whose officers are "continuing their efforts to warn churches and colleges against holders of degrees from fraudulent institutions."

It always makes you feel good when you think people are lots better than you know they are.

when Judas Iscariot failed.

The average man is not likely to be faced with any such crucial decision but the story emphasizes the first deep essential of godliness, which is the acceptance of God as the treasure of the heart.

But neither is there all there is to godliness. Choice and the treasure of the heart are the roots of true religion, the beginning of godliness; but godliness consists in what comes after.

When one reads with insight the account of the early Christian Church, in the New Testament, and especially in the Epistles, a napparent and surprising discovery is that so many accept God and the Christian way, without any clear apprehension of all that it meant.

For those of that early Christian time, and for loveless, professing Christians of today, the Beloved Apostle leaves no doubt about godliness in daily life.

His plain, strong words are: "If a man love not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?"

"If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?" (I John 4:20).

What would John say of our world of today, in which there is so much of "lip service" and so little brotherly love?

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Ex-Defense Mobilizer Wilson, testifying before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee at the height of the steel crisis let loose a fiery tirade at CIO President Phil Murray. It was so hot that even though the senators were sitting in closed session, he asked the stenographer not to record it.

Senator Fulbright of Arkansas touched off the Wilson blast by inquiring about certain amendments to the bill extending stabilization controls. Asking that his answer be off-the-record, Wilson replied:

"The chief situation you should consider is the growing control of labor over this country."

"I am not talking about the rank-and-file of labor," Wilson continued, "but about their leaders."

"A few men, a handful of labor leaders, have the power to shut down this country," said the former head of General Electric in icy tones.

"One man," he continued, referring to Murray, "has the power to shut down not only steel, but aluminum, copper—all the metals industries."

"We talk about the importance of competition in the steel industry," concluded Wilson, "but here is one man, one labor leader, who has the power to shut down the entire metals industry."

"Is there any use," asked Senator Fulbright, "in having the government try to control labor, since labor is tending to control the government?"

Wilson declined to answer.

Note—Wilson tangled with labor leaders—both the CIO and AFL—when he first came to Washington as defense mobilizer and junked the plan for a defense advisory board. During World War II, an advisory board on which was represented labor, farm groups, the public and business sat under the chairmanship of the late O. Max Gardner of North Carolina in order to advise the government on mobilization. Wilson ditched this idea, ignored labor advisers and got the CIO and AFL fighting mad. They have never warmed up to him since.

PRICE PROTECTOR

Ben Fairless, son of a coal miner and now president of U. S. Steel, largest steel corporation in the world, was talking to Ellis Aarnall, ex-governor of Georgia, now price administrator for the nation.

"Ben," said Governor Aarnall, "how many shares of U. S. Steel stock do you have?"

"A thousand shares," replied the head of the steel company.

"What! Only a thousand! You're a piker," replied Aarnall. "You mean to say that you're running this thing on only a thousand shares? Why, I've got almost that many various steel shares myself, and I'm battling on the other side—for the public."

Aarnall has been the toughest man the steel companies have had to deal with in demanding that there be no increase in the price of steel. It was Charley Wilson's original idea that the wage boost for steelworkers could be handled by giving the industry a compensating price increase, but he reckoned without his price administrator.

Aarnall has consistently refused to budge, and his immediate chief, Economic Stabilizer Putnam, himself a manufacturer, has stood behind him.

STOLEN DIARY

Pentagon circles expect Lt. Gen. Edwin Brooks to go easy on his fellow general, Robert W. Grow, the former military attaché in Moscow, who left his diary lying loose so a Communist spy was able to photograph it.

Brooks is commander of the Second Army, which will decide whether to go ahead with a court-martial of General Grow.

Actually, the Army is afraid the spy may also have photographed other top-secret documents that were in Grow's possession at the time. Grow assured Army investigators that he kept the other documents on his person, but the investigators aren't convinced.

One after-effect of Grow's carelessness has been the hasty withdrawal of those military attaches from Moscow who were mentioned in Grow's diary. The Turks are particularly sore over this, because their military attaché was an irreplaceable expert in Russia.

Note—Russia has quietly pulled all its military attaches back to Moscow from around the globe. Some observers wonder if this is a tip-off that the Kremlin is planning a new military move.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

London—Mandalay fell into the hands of the invading Japanese who were then in control of most of Burma, consuming the Japanese drive to cut off China from aid through India on the Burma Road.

Manitowoc—The first United States submarine built in fresh water shipyards, and the first to be launched sideways, slid down from its construction berth here to be tested on the Great Lakes prior to being turned over to the Navy.

San Antonio, Tex.—A German army pilot who escaped from an internment camp in Canada, was arrested here, having in his possession a defense map of the United States showing the location of military and naval air bases on which he had made many notations.

Escanaba—Word was received that Robert E. Lemire, Escanaba attorney in the U. S. Army, received a commission as second lieutenant after completion of officer training at Fort Benning, Ga.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Rush-ton of Marquette left for Evanston, Ill., called by the death of Mrs. Rushton's father.

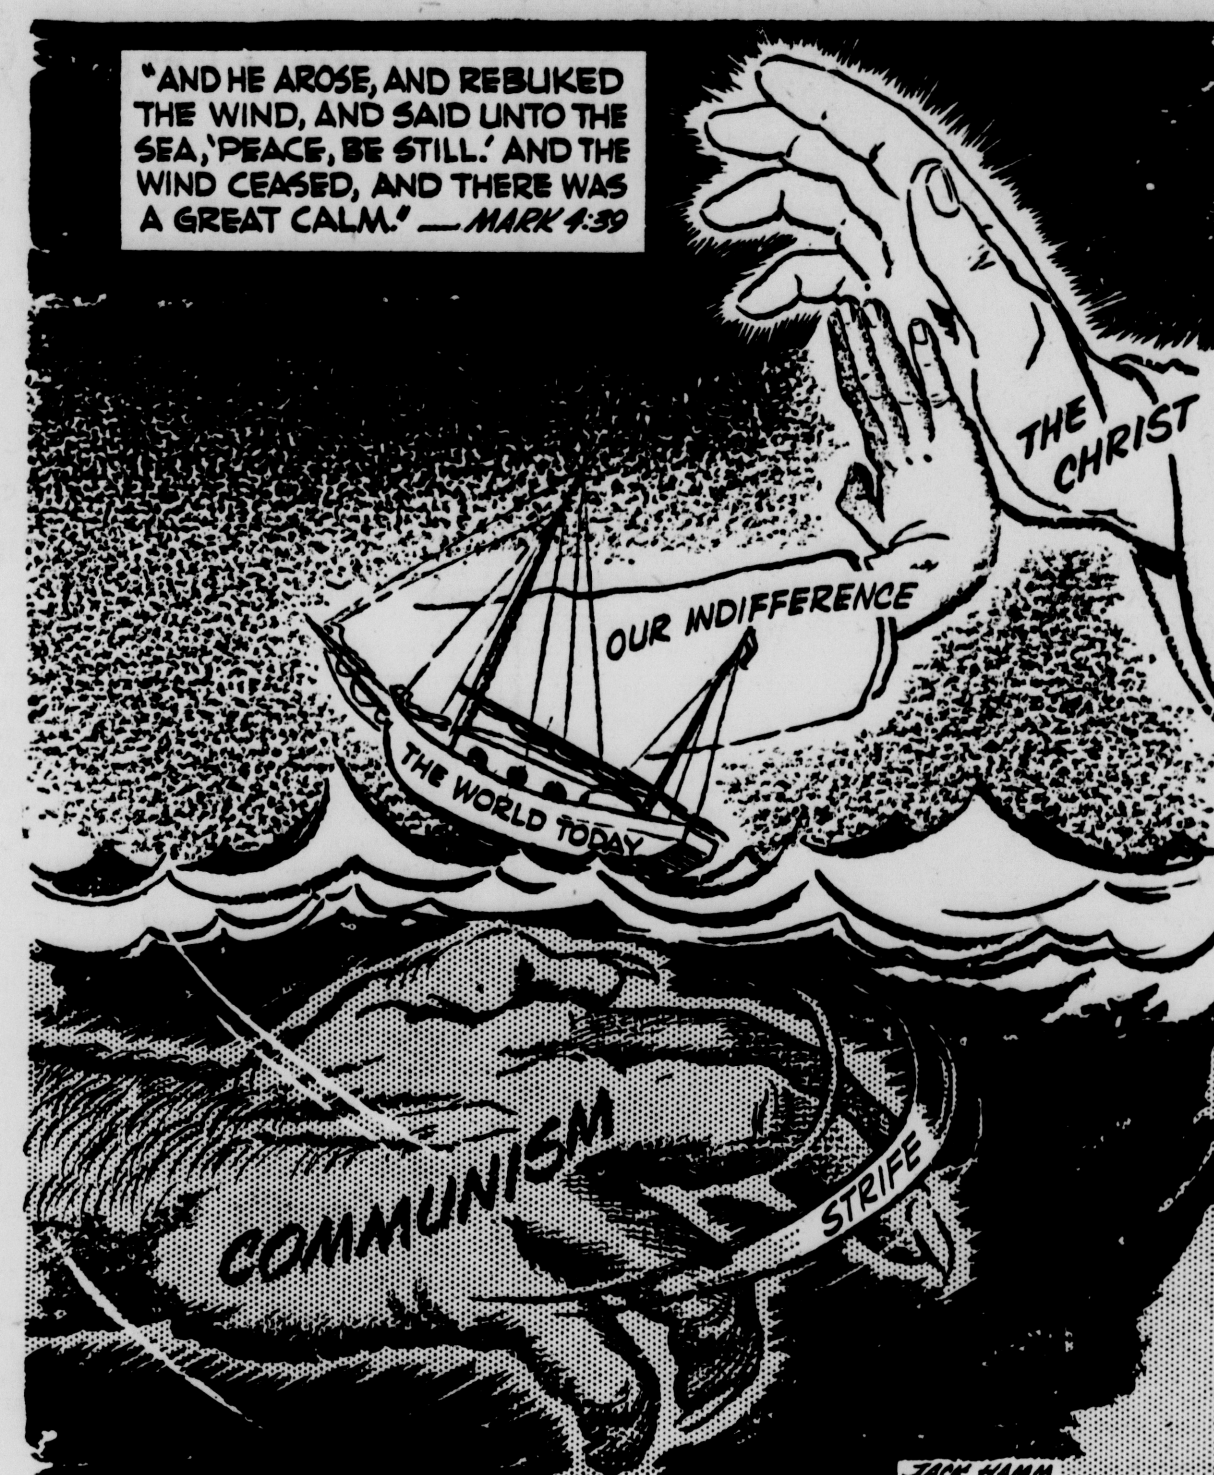

Escanaba—Joseph Asselin and John O. Moberg caught their limit of 15 trout each in the Big Indian and Au Train rivers.

Alfalfa Farmers Benefit As Green Tide Of Chlorophyll Sweeps U. S.

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Out where the tall alfalfa grows, the farmers are walking around with smiles on their faces and money in their pockets. That's because alfalfa is the best source of chlorophyll and chlorophyll is sweeping across the nation with a green frenzy.

There are actually two phases to the chlorophyll orgy. First, it's an ethical — in the pharmaceutical sense — preparation, used to keep wounds clean and deodorized. And, secondly, it's the latest fad, in the grand tradition of midget golf, Frank Sinatra and poodle hair-cuts.

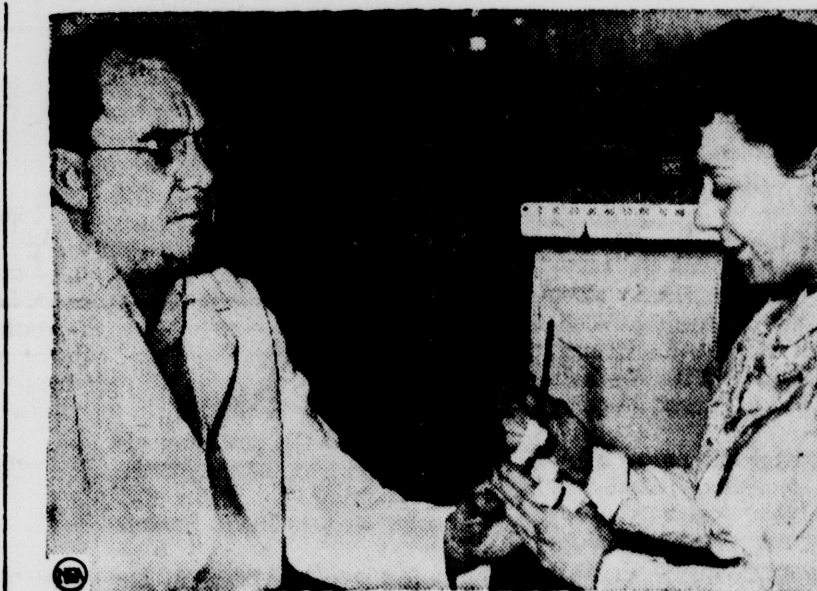

It's the fad aspect that is booming the alfalfa belt. Suddenly, a product has to have chlorophyll in it, or people won't buy. Manufacturers are adding a dash of chlorophyll to everything except frozen orange juice, which wouldn't look good green.

There are the common uses — tooth paste, deodorants, mouthwash, chewing gum — and others not so common. There is chlorophyll in some dog foods, shampoos, cigarettes, reducing pills, candles, toilet paper, inner soles, candle suppositories and moth balls. There has even been chlorophyll added to a scalp treatment for bald-headed men.

By the latest count, there are 29 different brands of tablets containing chlorophyll, enough to take your breath away. Altogether, some 65 products have hopped on the green band-wagon with new ones reaching the market virtually every day.

This boom to business stems from a chemical compound which is as old as nature itself. Chlorophyll is the stuff which makes plants green. Scientists have known what it was for years, but that's about all they did know about it.

They didn't know how it worked. They didn't know what it was good for in humans. They didn't know how to extract pure chlorophyll. And they still don't know the whole truth. On purity, for example, the extraction methods are steadily being improved. By the existing standards, today's chlorophyll is 116 per cent pure, yet the scientists are still far from satisfied.

Two men made the biggest contributions to chlorophyll's popularity. Benjamin Gruskoff tried it on wounds and discovered that it had definite healing tendencies. It doesn't kill bacteria, like penicillin, but it prevents new bacteria from growing and keeps the wound clean.

Dr. F. Howard Westcott experimented with it on patients with secondary anemia. He fed them chlorophyll and vitamin B-complex, in an effort to build up their hemoglobin. The B-complex ordinarily produces a foul odor, but Westcott noted that it didn't happen this time. He experimented and traced the lack of smell to chlorophyll.

This accidental discovery has been verified by countless researchers. Chlorophyll is so powerful a deodorant that a testtube of pure essence of skunk can be made to smell as sweet as new-mown hay with a small pinch in 30 seconds.

One company to profit is the relatively new and small Rystan Company, founded by a former advertising man, O'Neill Ryan, Jr. Ryan became fascinated with Gruskoff's work, financed him, poured some $4,200,000 (including reinvestments) into the project. Gruskoff's patent is now controlled by Rytan, which licenses companies to use it. Litigation is currently in process to determine just how binding Gruskoff's patent is.

Rystan itself makes only products sold by prescription, including chlorophyll tooth paste, tablets, solutions and ointments. Ryan, in common with many men in the pharmaceutical field, is a little embarrassed by the fad part of the product's rise.

Actually, the serious scientists have high hopes that the really important discoveries on the uses of chlorophyll are yet to come. They know it's a remarkable wound healer, tissue stimulator, bacteria inhibitor.

"But nobody knows yet what else it's good for," says one chemist.

The chief surgical consultant for the Army Surgeon General, Col. Warner Bowers, says that the drug is now standard supply in the armed forces for healing combat wounds. One experimenter, Dr. T. Cunliffe Barnes, cut each of his fingers and applied different preparations — including chlorophyll, penicillin and sulfa—to different fingers. The chlorophyll finger healed first.

Meanwhile, out in the alfalfa country, the bidding goes on. The dark green pure chlorophyll—or what presently passes for pure chlorophyll—is selling for about $90 a pound these days. And one ton of alfalfa, yields only between five and eight pounds of chlorophyll. So alfalfa is bringing around $115 a ton, with the buyers eager to pay the price.

Alfalfa isn't the richest source. That honor is reserved for such goodies as spinach and broccoli. But, for commercial purposes, alfalfa is better because you get six cuttings a year. Which is OK with the alfalfa people, who are now out of the red and into the green.

Good Evening...

MAN AND HIS FIRES — For the past week or more the burning index meter indicates an extreme forest fire hazard in the Delta county area.

No rain has fallen for many days, the winter's accumulation of dead vegetation is tinder-dry, one careless match would set the forests blazing.

Yet the incidence of forest fires is less today, the acreage burned over has been reduced, and man is slowly learning that he—and he alone—can be the savior or the destroyer of his forest resources.

It was not always so. There was a time when forest fires raged unchecked, when a fire-blackened clearing was viewed with approval rather than regret.

THE RELENTLESS ENEMY — More than a half-century ago in Northern Michigan the forest fire was not considered the enemy it is today.

Slashings were often fired to clear the ground for the plow, and if the fire ate its way into the surrounding timber, who cared? The pine stands would never be exhausted, people believed.

So fire raged destructively through forest and town, killing many persons, leaving others homeless. In 1871 Peshtigo became a flaming furnace in which more than 1,000 died.

And in 1889 at Escanaba the town was circled by fire starting in blueberry plains along the north shore. Wind-whipped sparks rained down and clouds of stifling smoke shut out the sun.

While the danger threatened all of the ore boats that entered the harbor were held over—in event the town had to be suddenly evacuated. Women and children were to be placed aboard the boats if the town caught fire.

A shift of wind and a providential rain saved Escanaba. The boats sailed away. The fire was held to be fortunate since it had cleared the outskirts of brush and grass.

CHANGE IN THOUGHT — Slowly through the years the concept of forest fires, their danger and their control, began to change.

As trees became scarce they became more valuable. Reforestation went hand in hand with fire control. State and national services organized to detect and fight fires. Lumbering firms cooperated in tree planting and slash clearing.

Now even the City of Escanaba, perhaps not thinking specifically of fire control, is planting trees on fire-denuded acres surrounding the town. Trees shade the ground, hold moisture in the soil, discourage fires.

TELLING THE STORY—Statistics reveal that while the number of fires has increased, the number of acres burned has declined in the period after forest fire control was established.

Today immediate efforts are made to control any fire that starts, no matter how small. No fire is permitted to burn out of control for weeks, as was the case in the past.

The public is warned of fire danger when it exists, and reminded always that the people lose when timber is destroyed.

FORECASTING FIRES—New weapons have been introduced in the fight against forest fires. These range from long-range weather forecasting and special fire-weather bulletins, to parachuting fire fighters.

The U. S. Weather Bureau's accurate forecasting can mean the difference between success and failure in controlling a blaze. Advance information on a shift of wind, wind velocity, and other conditions are invaluable to fire fighting forces.

The present tinder-dry ground in Northern Michigan is an invitation to disaster. Only by care in the use of fire, in quick detection and control, can the forests be saved.

As spring advances the greening leaves will shade the ground and reduce the hazard. For the present, however, man must be as careful with fire in the woods as he would be with fire in his own home.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

THE DANCE OF DEATH OR "DANSE MACABRE"

In the article on men as cooks that I was discussing the other day, the one in which the author brought in a number of unusual words, there was also a sentence about the men who "dish you up a job lot of bananas and ham topped with raisins and mustard sauce, or something equally macabre." Now "macabre" (muh-CAH-bruh) is a perfectly good word and the lady writer used it correctly, in a figurative sense that means gruesome, frightful, but the history of the word and the way it acquired that meaning is interesting.

The "danse Macabre," or "Dance of Death," to give the English version of the title, was the name given to certain paintings or, occasionally, sculptures that first appeared back in the fourteenth century. They represented Death in the midst of groups of dancers of all ages and conditions.

Some think that the pictures related to the terrific plague, the Black Death, which swept over Europe in the middle of the fourteenth century, in which it has been estimated that two-thirds of the population of Europe died. This belief has further support by the fact that man, woman, or child, during that plague, might be in perfect health in the morning, stricken with disease and death before night.

But the majority of scholars believe that "macabre" is the Old French substitute for "Macabree," and that the Dance of Death or "danse Macabre" was a part of an old play of the Middle Ages, in which Death and his victims, rich and poor, young and old, clown and scholar, have long debates, finally won by Death. The play ends in a weird dance, with Death escorting his victims off the stage; hence, the meaning "gruesome."

Science says there are more than 300,000,000 stars out yonder in space. Still it's hard to hitch your wagon to one.

Most of the "why don't you?" fellows seldom do, themselves.

Big Progress In Medical Science

By ROBERT C. RUARK
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—In the midst of all the hope for comprehensive cures for cancer, diseases of the heart, tuberculosis, and all the other killers—a hope so bright in the work of research plants such as the Lovelace Clinic here—there is a sinister piece of irony.

A famous British scientist, Dr. Solly Zuckerman, has been conducting experiments with the local facilities. His subject is secondary blast from atomic bombs and its effect on the human body. It is a completely fresh field of scientific curiosity, with very little precedent.

The vast powers that surge outward from an atomic explosion, after the original shock of its initial explosion, are difficult to deal with because they sweep forward and also curve backward at such tremendous speed that greater human damage may be done far from the scene than on the spot.

Medical Progress
It is possible, for instance, for blast power to go through a wall, carrying fine particles of dust which might smother a person supposedly safe inside. The antidote here is ironic, too, in such a complicated area. A wet handkerchief held close over the face for a few minutes provides adequate protection from the powdery particles that might smother a new victim of scientific enterprise.

We can trace brain waves with electronics today, and tremendous work has been done with isotopes, but Dr. Zuckerman, and his assistants don't know yet whether atomic blast leaves marks on the lungs because of pressure from the rib cage or because blast tautens the muscles. The experiments must be conducted mainly with small animals, under artificial conditions, since it is scarcely practical to touch off an atom in the presence of humans to find out what causes lung destruction at a distance from the explosion.

The scientific curiosity which sponsors a research on blast is not entirely a snide comment on the times, however. A great many medical marvels have resulted from research first based on the need for more knowledge of the weapons and antidotes of war. Out of the blast experiments may come the single thing they need to know to curb a dozen different diseases; out of the atom-bomb research already has sprouted miraculous sidebars for good.

I am no man of science, and anything more complicated than a spark plug baffles me completely. But I have been sitting spell-bound for days listening to some of the almost magical things that may be done in corrective surgery and therapy. There is, of course, a lot the researchers don't know. But I am of the opinion that a good man today can build you a new engine room out of an old tin can and a spool of rusty baling wire.

Miracles of Medicine
Maybe the boys will eventually blow up the world in their passionate pursuit of truth, when some knit-browed researcher mislays his collar button in the wrong test tube, but if the world doesn't pop I'm convinced a lot of people will live longer and feel a lot better.

Small miracles are worked in the Lovelace Clinic as a daily chore, and people who would otherwise be dead and planted go off with at least a comfortable extension of their span. I passed a very happy man in the corridor the other day, who fell upon the doctor with glad cries. The doctor looked apologetically at me, after the happy citizen had departed.

"He should have been dead last week," the doctor said. "But I think we've bought him another five or six years of comparative comfort."

I have kept this piece non-specific on purpose, since I am no expert. But I came out of there feeling fairly happy about the physical future of mankind, if he will just behave himself and let the boys in the white coats play with their intricate toys of the laboratory.

Cornelius Sochay

LEADERS OF THE 1952 graduating class at F. W. Good School at Nahma are Paul Thibault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Thibault, who is valedictorian, and Cornelius Sochay, son of Mrs. Stanley Sochay, salutatorian. Both have been class officers throughout their high school career, have taken an active part in school athletics and are members of the Nahma Hi-Spot staff. Commencement will be held at the Nahma Community Building May 28.

Democrat Delegates Named In New York; One Negro Included

NEW YORK — (AP)—Eight delegates at large to the Democratic national convention, including the first Negro ever selected in this state, have been chosen by the state Democratic committee.

They include former Postmaster General James A. Farley, Sen. Herbert Lehman and W. Averell Harriman, former ECA chief and now "favorite son" presidential choice of many New York leaders. The Negro is Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Manhattan. His selection was regarded as a symbol of the committee's support for a strong civil rights program.

The other four named were: Former Senator James M. Mead, state chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick, national committee woman Mrs. William H. Good and Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri of New York.

The eight delegates-at-large will cast four of the states 94 votes at the Chicago convention—one half vote each. The rest of the votes will be cast by the 90 regular delegates elected in the April 22 primary.

Tunesmith Sets New Light Plane Record
NEW YORK — (AP)—Songwriter Max Conrad claimed the Los Angeles-New York non-stop speed record for light planes—24 hours and 54 minutes.

The tunesmith landed at LaGuardia field after battling thunderstorms and headwinds during much of the 2,461 mile flight.

Official recording instruments carried in his Piper Pacer airplane will be taken to Washington for confirmation of the flying time.

Conrad, from Mirror Lake, Minn., is the father of 10 children. He is the composer of such songs as "Green Waters" and "Poor Kathalina."

Elba L. Morse Nurse Of Year

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP)—A Marquette nurse whose dramatic career includes 21 years of health work in the Upper Peninsula, yesterday was named Michigan's nurse of the year.

She is Elba L. Morse, superintendent of the Northern Michigan Children's Clinic of the children's fund of Michigan. The award was made by the Michigan Nursing Center Association in convention here.

A former Red Cross nurse during World War I, Miss Morse's career spans such dramatic episodes as being the first nurse to reach the scene of the Bath, Michigan, school disaster; and once having assisted a woman in childbirth on the roof of a floating house in a Dayton, Ohio, flood.

She has been with the Children's Fund of Michigan since 1929. She studied nursing at the Pontiac state hospital and at University of Michigan. She is a native of Sandusky.

Also named today were three outstanding student nurses of the year at a meeting of the Michigan State Student Nurse Association.

Those honored were Lois E. Sheridan, student at Edward W. Sparrow Hospital, Lansing, first; Joan Engquist, senior at Harper Hospital, Detroit, second; and Jean Gibbs of Jackson, senior at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, third.

French Wine Safer Than French Water, British Students Told

BRISTOL, England — (AP)—Bristol educators have refused to ban drinking of wine by British students going to France for the summer. French wine, the educators agreed, is safer than French water.

The ban was demanded by the National British Women's Total Abstinence Union. But the local education committee said yesterday nobody in France takes his water straight—it needs a little wine to purify it.

"British children will be in for more danger," a councilor, Mrs. E. R. L. Cave, insisted, "if they drink the local (French) water instead of the local wines."

Insurance Paid Hotel For Measles Outbreak

LONDON — (AP)—Lloyds of London paid off on an outbreak of measles.

An insurance settlement was made to the owners of the Gold Hill Hotel, in Malvern, an era with some 20 big boarding schools full of growing boys.

The hotel caters mainly to visiting parents, but all such visits are banned by school authorities every time a student erupts in red spots. The hotel had been insured against such loss of business.

Application blanks should be obtained from local draft boards before May 10, Col. Holmes said. Nearly all the State's colleges have been approved as testing centers.

Friendly Service to Borrowers

A real program of public service is in operation at the State Bank. We offer it to any of our borrowers who wish to take advantage of a family protective service. Our Bank has arrangements with Michigan Life Insurance Company of Detroit to provide life insurance for those who borrow money here on the installment plan. Their lives are automatically kept insured for the unpaid balance of their loans. That's a safeguard to a family in case of death to the head of that family. Money needed for other urgent purposes will not be used to pay a loan, because that loan is insured. (Maximum insured loan $2,000.)

It is a sincere satisfaction to us to know that our Bank is able to provide comfort instead of additional financial worries to those loved ones left behind should any of our Insured Borrowers not live to pay their indebtedness.

Watts In The American Woman's Point-Of-View

By HAL BOYLE

WINCHESTER, Va. — (AP) — There are two ways to kiss a lady's hand—over and under.

For generations it has been a courtly gesture for a gentleman to bend and salute a lady with a brush of his lips to the back of her hand, roughly two inches north of her knuckles.

Well, that got to be so standardized that men (men being what they are) figured that to get ahead with women (women being what they are) they would have to do something different.

So some male smart alec figured if he turned the lady's hand over and kissed it on the warm, soft, underside he would impress her as a gay daredevil. In Kansas City, one of the centers of masculine - feminine relations in this century, this gesture became graciously known as "the kiss of the cavalier."

Missouri Gallantry

This touch of Missouri gallantry has, as a matter of fact, rather swept the country in the last two decades. In the gay salons of New York City I have always found that a humble son of the mid-west could easily compete with sophisticated continentals in the matter of a romantic tribute to the hostess.

The continental, who usually wears a mustache, thinks he will surprise the hostess memorably by kissing her on the elbow. But actually most American women find his a rather eerie experience. As one prominent Manhattan hostess put it at the end of a hectic evening of such greetings by foreign diplomats:

"My elbows are simply brushed raw."

On the other hand, while you can still stir a lady's heart by the fine new American tradition of kissing her palm—gently massaging her fingers meanwhile—this has its disadvantages, too.

The main problem is the changed hands of U. S. women. They don't have dishpan skins anymore—they have the rough hands of home electricians.

She's the Handy Woman

A wife is the handy woman around the house today.

She no longer spends her time drying dishes. She is too busy repairing the equipment designed to make her life easier—the electric washing machine, the electric vacuum cleaner, the electric television set.

You bow and kiss her palm and bruise your mouth on a callous. Either that or you hit bandage.

Knighthood is still in flower. But it is getting harder to impress American women. Don't kiss the lady's hand. Don't send her roses. Just slip into her masculine palm a book on the history of the alternating current and she'll love you forever.

Do you count pennies? Then use the oil that comes along with canned salmon and tuna. If you are creaming the tuna, you may measure the oil in the can, and substitute it for some or all of the butter or margarine in the cream sauce recipe.

Brushing a blanket before washing, during drying, and after it has completely dried is extremely important in preventing and minimizing shrinkage as well as reconditioning badly felted blankets.

Fight Fire With Fire And Watch Hubby Hold His Tongue

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

(Q) "I have been married 25 years to a man who seems wonderful in every way except one. He is very insulting at times when we are with company. It seems to be his delight to say these terrible things. I have asked him kindly so many times not to do it and he knows this hurts me. But how do strange people know he doesn't? What is my best plan of handling this?"

(A) There are times when one must fight fire with fire and this is one of them. By that I do not mean that you should say terrible things to your husband in front of other people as this would be doing the very thing you have asked him not to do.

You should, however, make him and other people realize that he is not the sort of man he makes them think he is. This can best be done by such comments as, "My husband likes to play the role of the family boss but he really lets me do anything I want to do," or, "Isn't my husband funny? He loves to say terrible things to make me get embarrassed but it doesn't embarrass me at all because I know he doesn't mean them."

Such remarks will quickly put an end to any further comments your husband might otherwise make and, at the same time, it will make other people realize that it is just your husband's way of teasing you. While they may think he has an unkind sense of humor, so long as they see you are not embarrassed about it, they will accept it without further comments.

If your husband asks you, after the guests have gone, why you made such comments, tell him frankly that it was because he had hurt and humiliated you before strangers. Tell him also that you do not want people to get a bad impression of him and feel sorry for you, so you were trying to "cover up" for him.

I think you will find, after a few experiences of this sort, that your husband will learn to hold his tongue when he is with outsiders. He will realize that he is putting himself in a bad light, not you, and this will hurt his pride. If this is not enough to cure him of the habit of saying insulting things, I am afraid you will have to admit that he is "too old to learn new tricks" and to accept his behavior for the rest of your life.

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

GET the lead out—but be sure it's Ticonderoga! That's the nation's finest lead pencil and you buy it, of course, at the Office Service Company. See the sharp window at OSCO this week... tells about the big contest you can enter to help celebrate the 125th anniversary of the Dixon pencil company—makers of Ticonderoga. These are the pencils distinctive for their comfortable hexagonal shape, quick sweep eraser, stronger lead, and a point that lasts longer! These famous pencils are made of the finest cedar wood with a leadfast construction that unites the wood and lead. Buy your supply at the Office Service... let them prove their point!

WHAT say, Mom? Do you sometimes want to tan the hide of that teen-ager? Do it the pleasant way by giving her a nylon and net Jantzen swim suit—perfectly designed for tanning and swimming, too. At Gartner's this black or brown nylon suit has nylon net inserts down the side and flattering fullness at the bra. Other wonderful styles in latex and faille. Gartner's new arrivals in sports wear includes whip cord and corduroy shorts, and smooth Jantzen T shirts. Such little pieces fastened to the very washable Terry cloths and gay striped knits! Looking for play clothes? Gartner's can help you sport clothes that are intriguing and terribly practical. See them for everything new under the sun!

My neighbor says, "My wife is just like an umpire. She makes all the decisions—and she doesn't think I'm safe when I'm out!" But I happen to know he gives his wife a hard time—he doesn't let her have soft water! He says she doesn't need any more modern conveniences... that women have it easy already! If he only knew that soft water would make it easy on pay day for him! Culligan Soft Water saves so much on soap bills, on the length of wear in the family's clothing and bedding—even saves on the use of tea and coffee, yet brews a better beverage! Hope he reads this and decides it's time to make things soft for his wife and himself—the Culligan way!

STOP and go signals are evidence of a good traffic system, but stop and go in a watch are a bad sign! You can be sure of a dependable watch for that graduation gift if you buy at Blomstrom and Petersen. Their fine selection of Gruens, Bulovas, Elgins and Hamiltons makes every graduate's heart beat fast. One smart Gruen at just $29.75 is a tiny square in fine yellow gold. Gold bow knots at each side fasten to the band. If you're bargain hunting, you'll be happy to know that Blomstrom & Petersen have a few Elbon and Boulevard watches at special prices left from a previous mark down. Remember to stop and go into Blomstrom and Petersen.

SHE was only an optometrist's daughter which was why she was always making a spectacle of herself. A spectacle for your two eyes is coming to the Michigan Theater starting Sunday. A cast of thousands join in this technical epic that stars Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward, Raymond Massey and others... it's the long awaited "David and Bathsheba". Highlights in the film are the slaying of Goliath with the boy David's slingshot—the pilgrimage to the Ark of the Covenant—the dramatic use of the Twenty-third Psalm. Be sure you and the family are on hand next week at the Michigan. "David and Bathsheba" restates the full glory and grandeur of the American motion picture at its best!

HER eyes are like saucers when she sees the "Mom" up for a Mother's Day gift. It's a huge cup and saucer from the Photo Art Shop. Bright red letters spell out "Mom" on the side—may be used as a small planter, or for beverage! If Mom's a real coffee drinker! Also at the Photo Art are fine English bone china cups and saucers for the collector, beautiful linen handkerchiefs from 99¢ up, and a large assortment of unique Mother's Day cards by those master card sharers, Hallmark and Rust Craft. Don't forget the Photo Art when you want to remember Mom!

MOM had her finger on every situation when she raised that crop of kids; now she has a green thumb with growing plants. So what is more appropriate than one of the breathtaking new pottery planters from Eden's Gift Shop? Long and narrow to fit on a window sill or mantle, these luscious planters come in 12 or 9 inch lengths, and also in a squatty square design. Shades of dusty rose, chartreuse, dark green, gray and yellow to harmonize with any color scheme. Other extremely large planters in contrasting shades—gray lined with coral, for instance. See these planters at Eden's and the idea will grow on you.

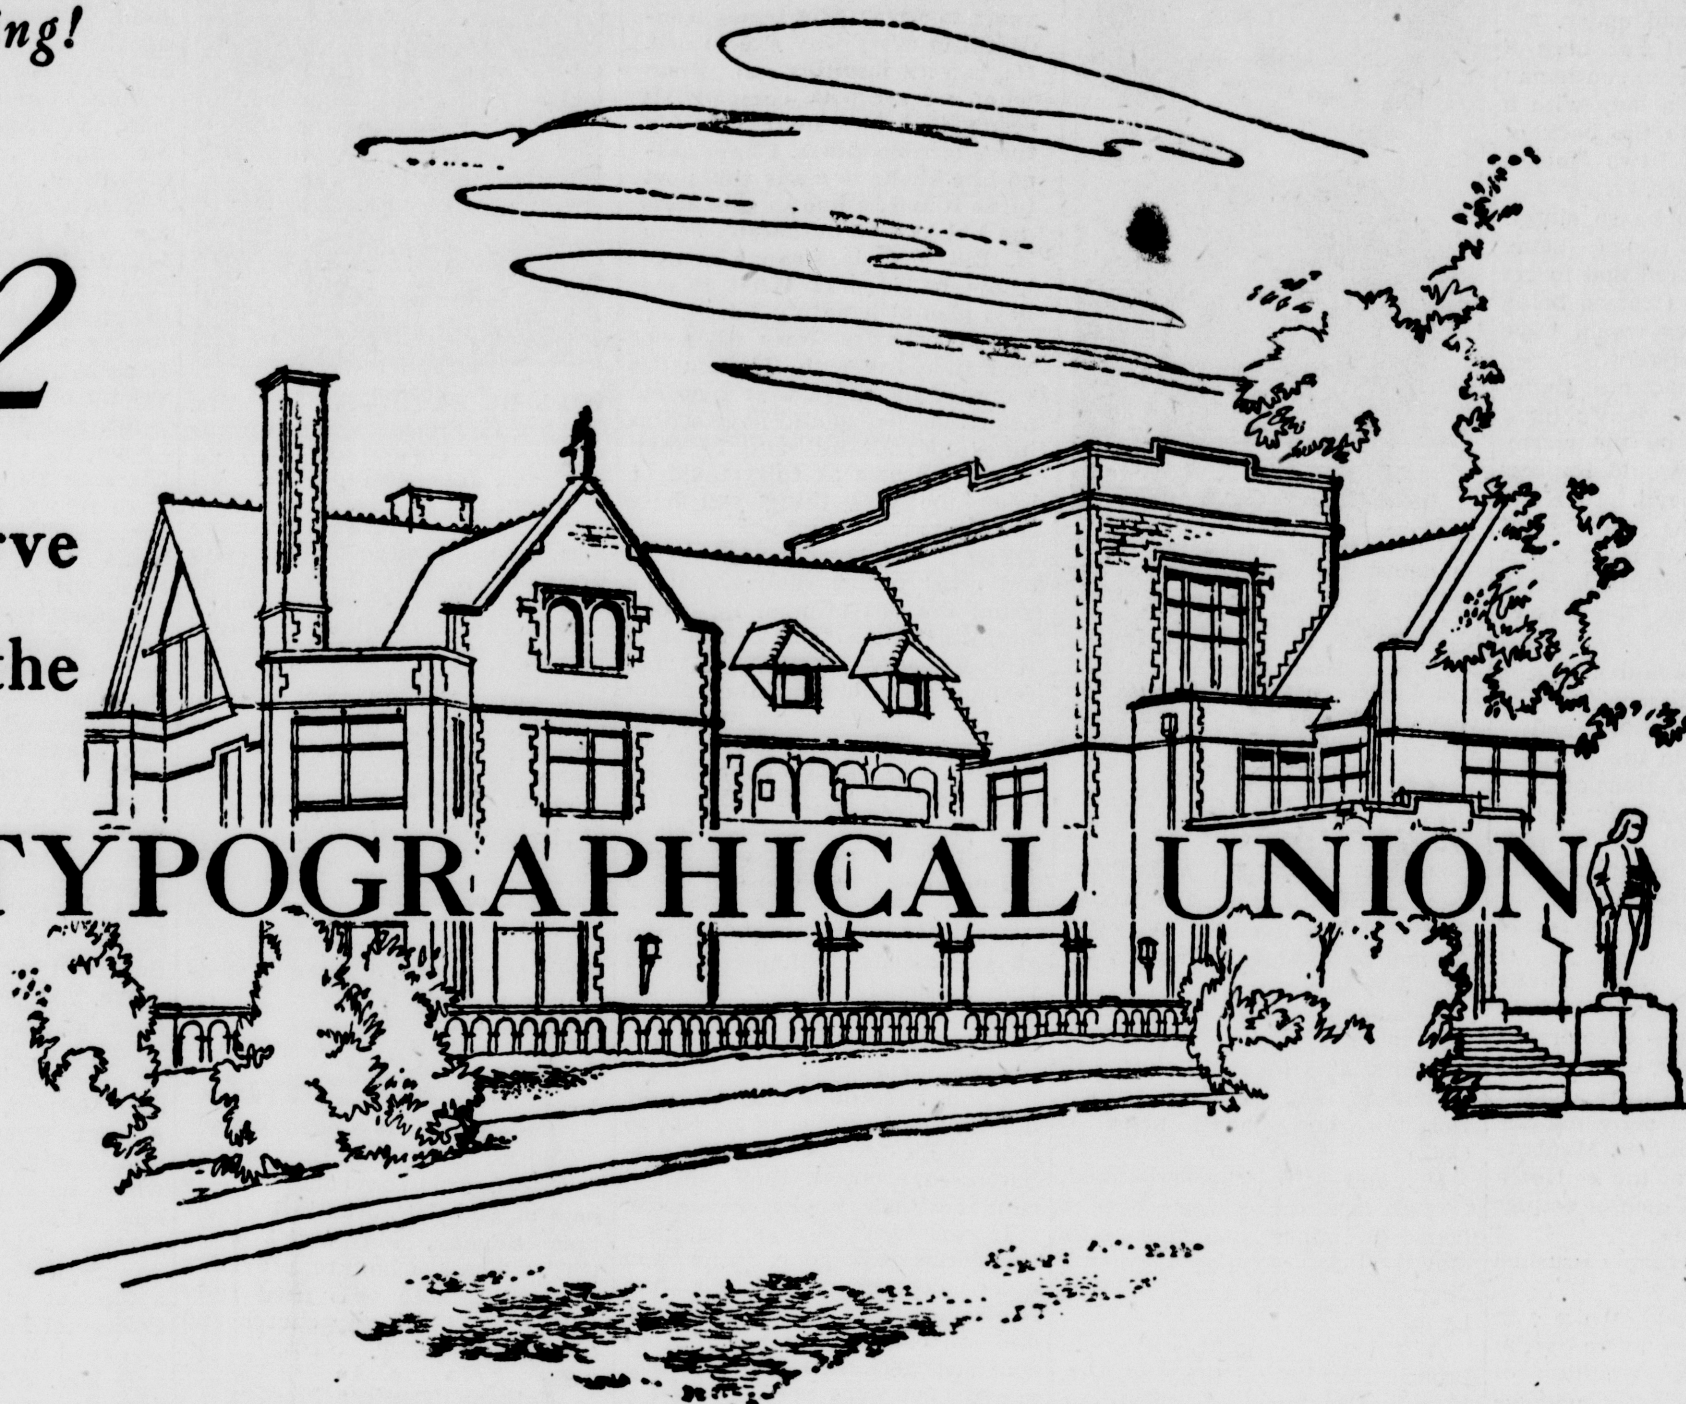

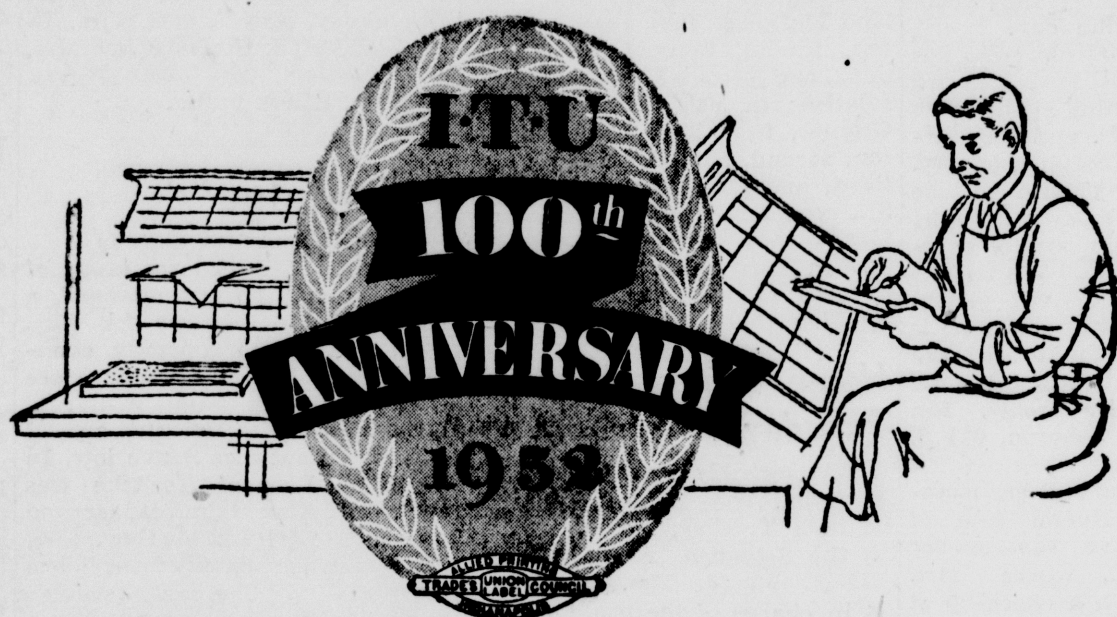

NO strong-arm tactics used—what makes the clothes "come clean" at the Escanaba Steam Laundry? Confession must be good for the soil. They use no third degree—that laundry is handled with tender care—yet the sparkling white results will have you confessing you've never seen such blinding whiteness. Most women will admit that wash day is a headache. Let the Escanaba Steam Laundry save you all that lifting, hanging, and tumbling. ...historic date when Printers observe the One Hundredth Anniversary of the

INTERNATIONAL TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION

A Remarkable Record of Consistent Service To Every Person in This Community:

1850—A convention of journeyman printers from Typographical Societies in six states met in New York to consider forming a national union.

1851—Delegates met in Baltimore, set up a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the proposed national printers' union "for the relief and benefit of the craft."

1852—On May 5, the I.T.U. was born at Cincinnati, Ohio, by adoption of this resolution: "The stipulations of the late national convention having been complied with, the National Typographical Union is hereby declared organized."

1853—Full financial reports of receipts and expenditures began, continued without interruption since. —Convention adopted bargaining policy: "The National Union regards as injudicious a frequent resort to strikes, believing that in most cases differences can be settled by more amicable means."

1857—New Orleans convention considered a proposal for "establishment of a union printers' home for those members who have grown old in the art."

1858—Opened membership to receive printing pressmen after many such craftsmen expressed a desire for organization as part of the printing industry.

1859—Convention gave favorable support to the policy of contracts with employers "after first having invited a conference with employers." — Union pioneered in giving consideration to fight against tuberculosis and "the exposure of its members to diseases of the respiratory organs."

1860—Accepted membership of all employers who were practical printers, qualified as journeymen, and who wanted to join with their employees in the union.

1862—Convention criticized the secretary-treasurer for calling off the convention scheduled in 1861, for such a minor reason as a war between the states; instructed the president to send a letter to all southern unions "assuring them of our continued good will and fellowship."

1863—Criticized the "paper trust" for increasing paper prices, and petitioned Congress to remove from paper the "duty now charged and regulated by laws."

1864—Resolved that "monopoly of the telegraph dispatches" by the Associated Press "is hurtful to the craft and a direct infringement of the liberty of the press." —Accepted membership of, and bargained for wages for, proofreaders and stereotypers working in union shops.

1865—First proposed an eight-hour day, although most craftsmen were working ten, eleven and twelve hours and many members were paid on "piece-work" basis.

1866—Began 43-year struggle to secure copyright law which would protect American craftsmen from competition with cheaper European labor.

1869—Opened membership to women, required equal pay for equal work and barred discrimination against them. —Resolved that printers should be hired "solely on account of competency, and not for religious or political views they may entertain." —Name changed to International Typographical Union after affiliation of Canadian unions, paving the way for real friendship between Canada and the United States.

1870—Miss Augusta Lewis of New York elected corresponding secretary, the first woman to be chosen as an officer of a national or international union.

1872—Launched long campaign for repeal of the conspiracy laws of the various states, under which labor organizations were subjected to persecution. —Began chartering separate unions of printing pressmen in cities where such members desired separate charters.

1873—Birth of principles of the Fair Practices Act; Union insisted each publisher have newspaper set or reproduced in type by his own employees; men were furnished for a varying volume of work at no loss of time nor extra expense to publishers; fair practice, principles still in effect, fully justified by eighty-year experience.

1876—Convention took first action to abolish sub-lists, and opened the way for a plan of priority now accepted and used throughout most industries.

1877—Local Unions provided relief funds, shared work, when great depression forced newspaper suspensions, business bankruptcies, wage reductions, widespread unemployment, and unregulated apprenticeship problems.

1879—International Typographical Union started action to organize the American Federation of Labor, instructing secretary to contact other national and international unions; also instructed local unions to "cooperate with other trades unions" at the local level "for united action."

1881—Federation of Trades and Labor Unions formed at convention called by Typographical Union delegates; announced platform demands for compulsory education of children, opposing employment of children under the age of fourteen, favoring an eight-hour day, opposing competition of prison and foreign labor, and requiring wages to be paid in lawful currency.

1885—Stereotyper and electrotype members given local union charters in cities where such members desired separate local unions. —Monotype process patented, producing type from perforated paper punched from keyboard; journeyman printers learned and have operated such machines, without any question of jurisdiction, for more than sixty years.

1886—International Typographical Union adopted a Union Label "so that the product of union labor may be readily known by purchasers, and the demand for publications friendly to the cause of organized workingmen may be encouraged."

1887—Maintained autonomy of international unions, announcing "the International Typographical Union would not acknowledge allegiance to nor recognize the supremacy of any other organization," would affiliate with but would not apply for nor accept a charter from the American Federation of Labor or any other organization. —I.T.U. issued charters to bookbinder members who wanted to form separate local unions.

1889—Required all amendments to constitution and all proposals to increase dues or assessments to be submitted to referendum of local union members. —Publication of The Typographical Journal started.

1890—Union Printers Home at Colorado Springs authorized and board of trustees chosen to arrange for erection of main building. —Introduction of Linotype machine brought resolution: "The principal factor in the economic operation of typesetting machinery is the employment of highly skilled and intelligent labor."

1891—International Typographical Union adopted plan for burial fund, now known as the Mortuary Fund, beginning a new epoch in fraternal benefits for members. —First authorized strike for nine-hour day in Pittsburgh by commercial printers and pressmen; I.T.U. members vote voluntary assessment to assist Pittsburgh members. Employers organized association to oppose Union, secured first injunction to prohibit picketing or speaking to strikebreakers; organized labor staged huge parade in protest against use of new strikebreaking weapon, the injunction, by government agency.

1892—Union Printers Home formally opened for reception of residents, and for sixty years the I.T.U. has provided this home and hospital for afflicted, aged and infirm printers. —Two thousand pressmen members seceded and formed their own international union. —I.T.U. authorized membership for mailers and news writers.

1893—Convention provided for initiation of new laws by petitions from local unions as a further step in guaranteeing democratic rule of the Union. —By referendum of members of both organizations, the German-American Typographia united with the International Typographical Union.

1894—By resolution adopted in referendum, members asked Congress for the "abolition of monopoly privilege of issuing money by individuals and corporations, and substituting therefor a system of direct issuance to and by the people."

1896—Bookbinder members, by agreement and with the assistance of the International Typographical Union, formally established their own international union. —Convention adopted provision for electing all I.T.U. officers by popular vote of the membership.

1898—Convention adopted law to discourage and prevent outlaw strikes, by withholding benefits unless strike or lockout is authorized by the Executive Council.

1899—Established nine-hour day, six-day week by contract with commercial printing employers after many months of collective bargaining. —Organized all Linotype machinists and machine tenders working in composing rooms; required such employment to be given to competent members of the Union.

1900—Instructed the president to notify the American Federation of Labor that the I.T.U. "is not in position to arbitrate its own laws" as to jurisdiction over composing room work claimed by other crafts.

1901—First of a series of International Arbitration Agreements with newspaper publishers adopted by referendum; system continued 21 years, then replaced by voluntary arbitration.

1902—Golden Anniversary showed a total membership of 38,364, with 559 local unions. —Women's International Auxiliary organized.

1903—By agreement with the International Typographical Union, stereotyper and electrotype members established their own international union.

1904—International Typographical Union locals of photo-engraver members were assisted in forming the International Photo-Engravers Union.

1906—Members in commercial printing shops struck for an eight-hour day, and carried it to successful conclusion against employers' open-shop movement.

1907—Adopted a voluntary plan of "I.T.U. Course of Instruction in Printing," offered by the Inland Printer Technical School of Chicago.

1908—Established a Pension Fund by special assessment based upon a percentage of earnings, the model for the social security plan and for most industrial pension plans.

1909—Manufacturing clause in U. S. copyright law adopted after 43-year agitation by the International Typographical Union to protect American labor from substandard foreign competition on matter protected by our copyright law.

1910—Referendum of membership adopted policy of discouraging and opposing piece-work, bonus for extra production, and sweatshop conditions.

1911—Joined with other crafts in forming International Allied Printing Trades Association, assigned title of Allied Label to joint ownership of affiliated crafts, provided voluntary co-operative action.

1912—The I.T.U. took over the Inland Printer Technical School Course of Lessons in Printing as a continuation of its apprentice training policy.

1914—Authorized sending delegates to Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, after it separated from the American Federation of Labor by agreement. Represented at every session since that time.

1916—Made ten-year arbitration agreement with commercial printing employers, but neither employers nor printers ever used arbitration during the life of the agreement.

1917—International Typographical Union guaranteed protection of jobs and priority for its 7,343 members who entered military service of Canada and the United States.

1919—Negotiated international agreement with commercial printing employers for a 44-hour week, which employers repudiated on the day it was to become effective.

1921—Commercial printers struck to enforce the 44-hour agreement made with employers in 1919; weekly half-holiday won, pattern for all crafts.

1922—Began free collective bargaining without previous arbitration commitment by either party, since record of 21-year experience proved complete freedom necessary to successful negotiation.

1930—Union survived greatest economic depression in history by sound principles and practical approach to problems, shared work and created unemployment funds, set a pattern for others.

1933—Began a five-day week at expense of members only; later federal law helped other workers get the five-day week; reduced earnings were offset by sound bargaining and co-operative practices.

1935—Wagner Act seldom used by union printers. I.T.U. gave aid to newly organized locals. —Urged American Federation of Labor to organize millions of workers in mass production industries.

1937—International Typographical Union refused to be assessed by the A. F. of L. to fight industrial organization, holding fast to the policy adopted in 1882 and reiterated in 1887 and 1900 asserting its autonomy.

1939—Tolerated suspension from American Federation of Labor for non-payment of the unauthorized assessment to create a fund for war against industrial unions.

1944—Accepted re-affiliation on same basis as in 1881, after A. F. of L. adopted policy: "International unions have complete authority to regulate the conduct of their officers and members, and to control the use of their funds and properties."

1947—International Typographical Union refused to accept any of the alleged benefits of the Taft-Hartley Act, holding fast to time-tested, sound principles of free collective bargaining, unhampered by governmental bureaucracy or other outside interference.

1952—Its 89,659 members still hold to the 100-year-old principles and practices which have made the International Typographical Union a great social force for progress and betterment, as well as the oldest and most democratic trade union in the world.

The Upton

Modern Design, Is Compact, Convenient

Rooms Four Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Cubage 22,400 ft.
Dimensions 51' x 33'

Measuring 51 by 33 feet in overall dimensions, "The Upton" has a total cubage of 22,400 feet. To build both the house and the attached garage you should have at least a 75-foot lot. This house will look best set back a distance from the street or roadway; from a purely practical standpoint, also, it will be well to place "The Upton" at a distance from the street in order to provide as much quiet and privacy as possible for the front bedroom or den.

The porch, at the left of the bedroom or den projection, provides welcome protection for the front entry. While there is no real entry hall in "The Upton" there is a large coat closet in the connecting hallway, which opens off the 21 ft. by 12 ft. 4 in. living room just to the right of the front door.

Decorative Interest
High points of decorative and architectural interest in this living room are the large fireplace, centered in the left wall, and the picture window, centered in the back wall and flanked by casement windows. Since the picture window is in the back living room wall in this plan, try to pick a location for your home that will provide an attractive scenic view from this window.

The living room connects with all of the other rooms in "The Upton" yet, because the doors are all placed in the right wall of the room, there is no annoying traffic through the center of the living room. Such a convenient arrangement of the doors also facilitates attractive arrangement of large furniture pieces. In "The Upton" the living room must serve two functions; that is, it must be both a living and a dining room. As the door in the further end of the right living room wall opens directly on the kitchen wall and chairs in the further end of the room. Such an arrangement will make serving meals in the dining room no chore at all.

Satisfying a wealth of cupboards, counters and cabinets along the back and front walls, the kitchen is 13 ft. 6 in. by 8 ft. 6 in. in dimensions. Under the double windows in the back wall is the selected, and most appropriate, location for the sink. Both the stove and refrigerator should be placed against the front wall. For extra storage and work space place counters, cupboards and cabinets between these two appliances.

In the left front corner of the kitchen is an area set apart as the breakfast nook. This attractive little corner will find use all the day through for family luncheons and between-meal snacks. Just to the right of the door leading from the kitchen to the back yard is the unusually large broom closet which can easily accommodate all types of household cleaning supplies.

About in the center of the right living room wall is the door leading to the main hallway in "The Upton." To the left, opening on this hallway, is a general purpose closet for which any housewife can easily find a multitude of uses. The large bathroom, which contains both a tub and a built-in shower, opens to the right off this hallway. Well lighted and ventilated by one good-sized window, this bathroom contains a spacious linen closet in its left wall. You'll have plenty of storage space for your bed linen and towels in this large centrally located closet.

Stairs to the full cement basement lead down from this central hallway which terminates in the master bedroom. One window in the back and another directly opposite in the front wall provide excellent light and cross ventilation for this 11 ft. 6 in. by 11 ft. room. There is one large closet in the right back corner of the room. Designed to serve as either a bedroom or a den this dual-purpose room opens off a tiny hallway leading from another door in the right living room wall. The den or bedroom measures 13 ft. 6 in. by 11 ft. and is assured of good light and cross ventilation from one window in the right wall and another in the front wall. The large closet in the back wall will come in handy regardless of the use to which you decide to put this attractive room.

If you care to do so, you can reserve this room for guests or it may serve as a combination den and guest room.

Attached to the left end of the house proper, the garage measures 21 ft. by 12 ft. One window in the back wall and another in the left wall provide good light and ventilation for this garage. The extra door in the back wall makes it easy to go to and from the garage via the back entrance.

There's ample storage space in the garage for screens, storm enclosures and all types of garden tools. The left back corner will be an ideal location for a small work bench, if you care to install one in the garage.

In the full cement basement, install the heating plant under the living room and the laundry under the kitchen or bath. This will leave ample basement area for the family which builds "The Upton" to construct a recreation room, have a home freezer installed, and still have room for storage.

Sixteen Three-Year Olds Set For Derby Test Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP)—The field for the 78th running of Kentucky Derby was reduced to 16 this morning when trainer Ben Jones scratched Top Blend, stablemate of the favored Hill Gail from Calumet farm.

Top Blend was a surprise entry yesterday. Jones decided to keep him in the barn when the track remained lightning fast for the big race starting at 4:30 p. m. EST, today.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP)—Sixteen three-year-old colts, as finely tuned as a concert violin, challenge one another in the 78th running of the $125,350 Kentucky Derby today.

It'll take hardly more than two minutes for them to cover Churchill Downs' sun-baked derby route of a mile and one quarter. But in that brief period will be packed all the hopes and disappointments of three years of careful training for these thoroughbreds in America's No. 1 horse race.

Some already have acquired a degree of greatness through two-year-old and early season triumphs. Others have yet to visit the winner's circle this year. But they all are survivors of an original field of 167 once nominated for this turf classic.

100,000 Crowd

A crowd estimated at 100,000 again was expected to pack the vast stands and the flower-decorated infield that is Churchill Downs.

Millions of others also will see the race: the Run for the Roses is being televised nationally for the first time. It will be carried over 49 stations by CBS - TV and broadcast on radio by the same network. Both the telecast and broadcast are scheduled for 4:15 p. m. to 4:45 p. m. Eastern Standard time. Post time is 4:30 p. m.

They'll see the 17 horses break from the barrier, thunder the five-sixteenths of a mile past the stands, striving for a favorable position at the first turn.

Then into the back stretch, where stamina begins to tell. And finally around the final turn into that heart-breaking quarter-mile of the home stretch.

Weather Good

The weather man cooperated in making the gala occasion a success, changing his earlier prediction of showers to fair and cooler. That cooler part is good news to the fans, assembled from all sections of the nation and all walks

Education Council Approves Reform Program Drawn Up By College Heads

CHICAGO — (AP)—The American Council on Education is ready to throw its full prestige behind a strict sports reform program first recommended by a group of college presidents last February.

The ACE's section on athletics approved the program yesterday. It went to a resolutions committee this morning and presumably will be put before the entire ACE membership later today.

The program includes, among 10 major points, the abolition of athletic scholarships as such, the elimination of out-of-season practice, such as spring football drills, and the banning of post-season games like the Rose and Sugar Bowl games.

presidents headed by John A. Hannah of Michigan State came up with the plan in mid-February at a meeting in Washington. Their ideas were adopted in full by the A.C.E. executive committee.

The whole item was considered and approved yesterday by an ACE section representing university, college and secondary school presidents, coaches, athletic directors and others.

ACE spokesmen say the program to all purposes already is official policy of the council. However, they said the full membership may nail it down with a vote later today.

The ACE—a group of school leaders—has no enforcement powers. It does have enormous prestige. Its membership includes most college and university presidents and other influential educators.

Already that prestige has spurred the North Central Association, one of the country's most powerful ac-

Trojan Nine Entertains Cooks, Powers In Sunday Doubleheader

The St. Joe Trojans will make their first home high school baseball appearance a big one Sunday afternoon when they entertain the Cooks club at 1:30 and the Powers-Spalding Tigers at 3.

Coach Tom St. Germain will send southpaw Dick Cass to the mound in the opener at the city diamond. Jim Ottensman will be behind the plate, Gary Guertin at first, Pete Kutches at second, Bob Sendenburg at shortstop, John Martinac at third, Bill Baker, Bill Maycunich and Tom Brien in the outfield.

Rodman To Hurl

In the second half of the twin bill the Trojans will play behind Bill Rodman on the hill. Other Trojans likely to see action in the doubleheader are Jerry McDonough and Bob Rodman, outfielders, and Bill Lancour, infielder.

The opener will be the first meeting between St. Joe and Cooks this season. Cooks has a pair of impressive Central League wins over Rapid River to date.

Previous Win

The Trojans tangled with Powers once already this season, besting Coach Zig Shesky's Tigers 15-2 at Powers last week. But the Powers-Spalding club showed improved form this week in a 13-0 victory over Alpha Thursday afternoon.

St. Joe will face the slants of Ray Wells in the second game. He flipped a two-hitter at Alpha in his last start.

St. Joe has an 8-6 loss on the books from a Tuesday afternoon meeting with Bark River and will be seeking to climb over the .500 mark Sunday.

Officials for the two games will be Al Ness and Bob L'Houillier.

Beck-Johnson Tie For Second In City Bowling Tournament

F. O. Beck and Carl Johnson zoomed into second place in the doubles division of the City Association bowling tournament last night, collapsing 1299 pins.

Johnson made it a big evening by cracking a 687 series, good enough for a third place tie in the singles event. John Knauf shares the third place position with his 687 which was also rolled last night.

The city tournament concludes with rolling this weekend.

Marquette Beats Escanaba In First Dual Track Meet

Sweeping four events and capturing eight first places the Marquette Redmen bundled up a 74-1-3 to 34-2-3 dual track and field victory over the Escanaba Eskymos here yesterday afternoon.

The Eskymos were buried under the weight of depth and experience but produced four first place winners and swept the shot put. Dick Casey was unchallenged in winning the mile run in a fast four minutes, 55.7 seconds. Casper Bartley outdistanced the shot putters with a heave of 40 feet, seven inches. John Connelly sped home first in the half-mile run in 2:18.2. The Eskymo medley relay team topped the other first with a 2:58.4 performance.

Marquette slammed the high hurdles, 100 and 220-yard dashes and the pole vault. Howard Larson was high point man for Marquette with first in the dashes, a tie for first in the high jump and a leg on the 880-yard relay team for a total of 15 1/4 points. His team mate Lincoln North scored 14 points with first in the hurdles and a tie with Larson for first in the high jump.

The Eskymos failed to threaten in the half-mile relay when the baton pass missed fire between the first two runners and Marquette pulled off to a quarter-lap lead.

Escanaba harriers return to action next Saturday when they entertain Menominee and Marinette squads in a triangular meet.

Summary: Team scoring—Marquette 74 1/2, Escanaba 34 1/2. 120 high hurdles—Lincoln North (M), Charles Wilson (M), Henry Normand (M), 17.8.

Medley relay—Escanaba (Bill Peitler, Fred Paulson, Harlan Yelland, Gerald Nichol) 2:58.4.

100-yard dash—Howard Larson (M), Ronnie Johnson (M), Paul Vance (M), 10.9.

1/2 mile run—Dick Casey (E), Dave Gasman (E), Mark LaPointe (M), 4:55.7.

440-yard dash—Sig Loomis (M), Fred Paulson (E), Harlan Yelland (E), 60.3.

100 low hurdles—Lincoln North (M), Milt Burdick (M), Dick Carlson (E), 24.6.

220-yard dash—Howard Larson (M), Ronald Johnson (M), Paul Vance (M), 24.5.

880-yard run—John Connelly (E), Richard Johnson (M), Pat Gallagher (E), 2:18.2.

Half mile relay—Marquette (Ronald Johnson, Howard Larson, Paul Vance, Jack Stephenson) 1:45.

Pole vault—Wallace Porter (M), Charles Bergstrom (M), Milt Burdick (M), 9 feet 6 inches.

Shot put—Casper Bartley (E), Marshall Judson (E), Fred Paulson (E), 40 feet 7 inches.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Escanaba's former star chucker Russ Hiltunen has drawn the nod for the Oshkosh Giants' home opener in the Wisconsin State League tonight against the Green Bay Bluejays. In his last appearance on the Oshkosh mound, Russ tossed the first three innings of an exhibition game against Zion. He fanned seven batters and did not allow a hit. Counted on to lead the Oshkosh mound corps this season, Rusty received bad news recently. He is slated to report to the Army on May 20.

When Bucky Flath elected to pass up another season of Little League baseball this summer to play on Al Ness' American Legion Junior team the decision was a tough one to make. As an 11-year-old last Summer he had the enviable record of five and a third innings of no-hit, no-run ball against two of the best Little League teams in the Midwest, Thillens of Chicago and Whiting, Ind. Thillens went on to represent the Midwest in the Little League world series at Williamsport, Pa.

Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymo baseballers looked impressive in their opening win against Marquette Thursday afternoon, although it's early to be making such statements. Marquette offered little opposition either at bat or defensively, so it's hard to tell how the Eskymos stack up. As the Eskey coach said after the game: "It's easy to look good when you've got a 13-run lead." However, the Escanaba pitching staff is strong, there's lots of hustle in the field and the defensive infield play was smooth in the opener.

Menominee's Riverside Country Club also has a new pro on duty this season. He's Irving Johnson, former professional at Iron Mountain. Johnson is a Michigan State College graduate.

Official Opening Of Escanaba Golf Club On Weekend

Official opening of the Escanaba Golf club this weekend was announced today by Harry Needham, president.

"The course is in the best condition ever, the greens are in, all fairways are in excellent shape," Needham said this morning, "and we expect a heavy attendance of members over the weekend."

New pro Eddie Ernst has the pro shop open and golfing equipment is on hand. He is available for lessons to members at all times.

Twilight league play will be introduced on Tuesday, May 13, under the direction of Harry Hogan, sports committee chairman. He will also announce the date for the opening stag in the near future.

First fish fry of the season will be held on Friday, May 16. Complete social calendar is in the process of being made up.

The unusually fine spring weather has this year resulted in a successful fertilization program under the direction of M. L. Council. Greens and fairways benefited by the fertilization program.

Bright spot of the new season is the completely remodeled and redecorated clubhouse which will be in full use by Tuesday. A new picture window fronting the course has been installed since last season.

The steady flow of golfers to the course is expected to swell to a season's peak this weekend if the weather continues mild.

QUESTION: What player in the National League made the most hits in his first year?
Answer: Lloyd Waner, with 223 hits in 1927.

Q. What player holds the record for most errors in a World Series?

A. Roger Peckinpaugh of Washington in 1925—eight errors.

Q. A pitcher trying a change of pace, lobs the ball to the batter. The batter, seeing he can't be hurt by the pitch, stands stock still and allows the ball to hit his hip. Is the batter awarded first base on a hit-by-pitched-ball?

A. No. If he plainly makes no effort to get out of the way of the ball, the batter is merely credited with a called "ball."

Q. Is it true that the three DiMaggio brothers—Joe, Dom and Vince—all have the same middle name? If so, what is it?

A. Yes, it is true. Their middle name is Paul.

Q. Has there ever been an unassisted triple play in the World Series?

A. Yes, by Bill Wambgsans of Cleveland, in 1920.

Rock Mutuals Take Eighth In Booster Division Of Tourney

GLADSTONE — Only one change was recorded in the Upper Peninsula Bowling Association tournament leaders here last night. The U. P. Mutuals of Rock knocked over a 2465 count to take eighth place in the Booster team event.

The keg tournament continues with a full schedule over the weekend.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting—Walt Drope, Red Sox—drove home six runs with bases-loaded homer and two singles in 13-6 win over St. Louis.

Pitching—Eddie Lopat, Yankees—set down Detroit with two singles—both by George Kell—in 4-1 victory.

Two out of three players in the National Hockey League are married.

Michigan Takes Big Ten Lead

CHICAGO — (AP)—The University of Michigan, helped along with a 10-error assist by Iowa, held undisputed possession of first place in Big Ten baseball standings today.

The Wolverines racked their fourth straight conference win yesterday at Iowa City, drubbing the Hawkeyes 10-3 on seven hits and 10 Hawkeye miscues.

Meanwhile, Northwestern—only other previously unbeaten Big Ten team—dropped a 5-1 decision to Wisconsin. The result left the Wildcats and the Badgers tied for the second, each with three wins and one loss.

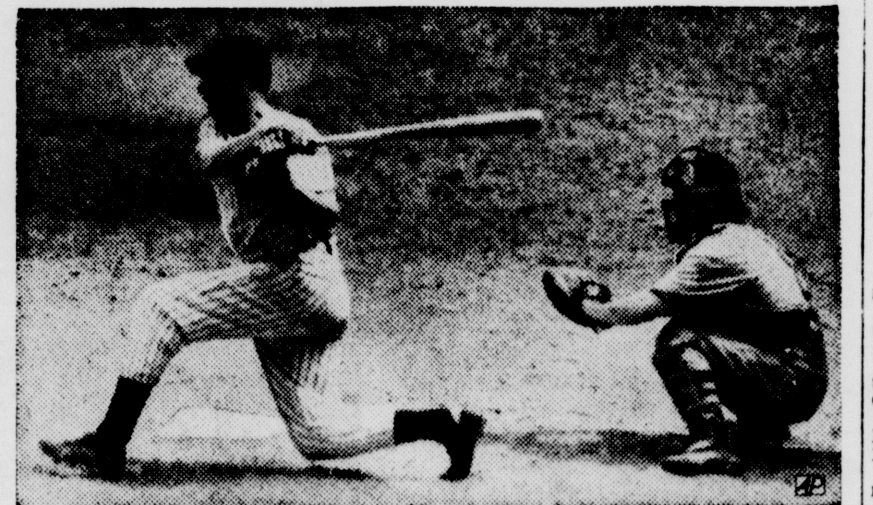

In other games, Illinois beat Purdue 11-6, Michigan State took Minnesota 7-5 and Ohio State defeated Indiana 6-1.

Northwestern couldn't get a scoring drive going against Wisconsin's Ronald Unke, who scattered seven hits in handling the Wildcats their first loss.

Illinois had little trouble with Purdue. Although the Boilermakers outbait the Illini 13 to 10, they erred seven times afield. The Illini had a comfortable margin throughout.

Michigan State got off to a four-run first inning against Minnesota and went on from there for its victory. Bob Bilyard and Pitcher Don Quayle aided the Spartan cause with homers.

A full program of doubleheaders is on tap this afternoon with Wisconsin at Northwestern, Michigan at Minnesota, Indiana at Illinois, Purdue at Ohio State and Michigan State at Iowa.

This is the Joe DiMaggio of 1941, the year he got his biggest thrill by hitting safely in 56 straight games. He is shown running his streak to 43 games against the Red Sox. Frank Pytlak is the catcher. Notice DiMaggio's wrist action and how his knee almost touches the ground on the followthrough.

bat in extra innings to keep his streak going but he often went up for his final turn at bat before getting a hit.

"I remember one road game," recalls DiMaggio. "I went into the final inning without a hit and three Yankees had to bat ahead of me. If they all went out the streak was over."

"Red Rolfe opened with a single. The next batter flied out. McCarthy gave Tommy Henrich the bunt sign. The only reason for a one-out hunt was to keep the inning alive so that I'd get up again. If the batter had hit away there was the possibility of a game-ending double play."

"Henrich nodded joyously at the command, and dropped his bunt. He was thrown out but I got my chance. I managed to hit a double. You would have thought we had just won the pennant."

"Rolfe, on crossing the plate, threw his cap high into the air. The players on the bench danced, whistled and hollered. When I finally came in Henrich hugged and kissed me."

"You couldn't help but admire men like McCarthy, Rolfe and Henrich for their desire to help a teammate. It was one big happy family playing with the Yankees. DiMaggio got a big break the day he tied Keeler's 44-year-old record 44-game streak. He signaled off "Black Jack" Wilson of the Red Sox in the first inning. The game was called after five innings—rain.

The next day against Heber Newsome, a rookie who was to win 19 games for the 1941 Sox, DiMaggio broke all existing records for hitting streaks by smashing a home run. But just before that blast his brother Dominic and Stan Spence had made spectacular catches to rob him of hits.

The streak finally ended in a Cleveland night game against Al Smith and Jim Bagby. DiMaggio hit three on the nose that night but Ken Keltner, playing third base, made two miraculous stops and Shortstop Lou Boudreau also came in with a great play.

The tension was over. The next day the Yankees begged him to start another break. He just looked up and said "Hey!"

(Editor's Note: DiMaggio did hit the next day and the next and before they stopped him he had compiled another streak, this one for 16 games. In the meantime his roommate, Lefty Gomez, presented him with a humidor on behalf of all the Yankees. He still has the humidor on which appear all the 1941 Yankee signatures.)

Rosen's Winter Batting Practice Paying Dividends For Cleveland

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Al Rosen's winter batting practice is paying off for the Cleveland Indians with a spring home run spree.

Rosen fopped with the rest of the Tribe as they lost the pennant to the New York Yankees in the 1951 stretch drive. His average slumped to .265. Back home at Miami, Fla., with a chance to think it over, Al drew up a positive plan for '52. Shortly after the first of the year he started daily workouts. With a high school boy lobbing them up, he took his cuts at Miami Beach's Flamingo Park.

When Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager, called him to Tucson, Ariz., in mid-February for extra batting instructions, he went a-running. Rosen had taken a pay cut from Greenberg. He wanted to show him things would be different this season.

"I had a terrible year," said Rosen. "But I know I can hit better than that. I'm going to get that money back and more over with a good year."

Rosen hit a satisfactory .308 while the Indians jostled with the other western clubs. Once they hit the East early this week, he caught fire. Against the Philadelphia A's and Washington he collected nine hits in 18 at bats for a .500 mark, boosting his average to .368.

Al Rosen Indians

Tuesday night he hit three home runs at Philadelphia. Last night he blasted his seventh homer of the year, with two on, to trample Washington, 6-2. He is tied with Boston's Walt Dropo for the American league lead with 15 runs batted in.

Bases-Loaded Homer

Dropo set the home run pattern in the afternoon at Fenway Park with a bases-loaded blast off Ned Garver in the Boston Red Sox's 13-6 riot against the St. Louis Browns.

Garver coasted along with a 3-1 lead until the Sox cut loose with a big nine in the sixth. A balk called by Umpire Charlie Berry and an error by Rookie Jim Rivera on Don Lenhardt's long drive upset Garver. Dropo's smash knocked him out.

Eddie Lopat, a little off the beam in his previous starts, found the groove against Detroit to throw a two-hitter for the Yanks' 4-1 victory. George Kell was the only Tiger able to solve Lopat with a single in the first and eighth.

Philadelphia outscrambled the Chicago White Sox, 13-12, in a weird night game at Shibe Park where 11 pitchers took turns dishing up base hits. Hank Majeski's single with one out and two on in the ninth finally won the game.

Almost No-Hitter

Omar (Turk) Lown of the Chicago Cubs made the big news in the National when he pitched eight no-hit, no-run innings against Brooklyn only to slow up in the ninth and lose, 3-1.

Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson spanked Lown's first two pitches for hits in the ninth, ruining his bid for the first Cub no-hitter in 35 years.

Rookie Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell finally broke into the win column with a four-hitter as St. Louis shaded the Phillies, 3-2. Peanuts Lowrey's single with one out in the last of the ninth scored Solly Hemus with the deciding run.

The New York Giants scored two in the 10th, one a homer by Whitey Lockman, to down Pittsburgh, 5-3, for their fourth straight win.

Jim Wilson was the whole show in the Boston Braves' 2-1 victory over Cincinnati. He scattered seven hits and singled with the bases loaded in the second to hand Kenny Raffensberger his first loss after three wins.

Tigers Lose To Yanks On Lopat's Two-Hitter

NEW YORK — (AP)—If every one had done as well against the New York Yankees yesterday as George Kell, the Detroit Tigers undoubtedly wouldn't be in the American League cellar today.

But the trouble was that none of George's mates did even half as well. So now the Tigers are back in the basement, half a game behind seventh place Philadelphia.

Kell collected both of the two hits given up by the Yankees' Lefty Ed Lopat in the second of the three-game series. As a result, New York evened the series at one game apiece with a 4-1 win going into today's rubber game.

To Philadelphia

For that contest Detroit Manager Red Rolfe named Marlin Stuart to hurl against Vic Raschi. Tomorrow the Tigers move on to Philadelphia for a doubleheader Sunday with the Athletics. Detroit now is 19 percentage points behind the A's with a won-three, lost-ten mark.

The Tigers won the opening game of the current series with the world champions behind the spectacular ninth inning relief hurling of Diz Trout and a pair of consecutive two-run homers off the bat of Vic Wertz.

Yesterday was a different ball game however, and Lopat shackled the Tigers. Kell paved the way for Detroit's lone score with a first inning single and slapped another single in the eighth.

Wertz Blanked

Wertz failed to hit in four trips to the plate and Pat Mullin, who was on base both times when the big rightfielder hit his two home runs Thursday, also failed at the plate in his role as a pinch hitter. But both players are high up in the American league batting standings.

Mullin's .400 average is the second highest in the league. New York's Jerry Coleman, who was recalled by the Marines Thursday along with Ted Williams lead the league with a healthy .405.

With five homers, Wertz is second to Cleveland's Al Rosen in the home run department. Rosen has seven four-baggers.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP)—When you watch Marty Marion lend class and color to the St. Louis Browns these spring days you suddenly realize all over again why the tall, graceful athlete was known all those years with the Cardinals as "Mr. Shortstop."

It is easy to forget. He was out of the lineup only one full season, sitting unhappily on the Card bench and trying to manage a Card team which was over the hill, yet in that brief time memory of his brilliance dimmed a little and Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees became the beau ideal of shortstops. Some said that Chico Carrasquel of the White Sox was making plays they never saw before.

But now Marion is back, transforming a collection of raw rookies and big league castoffs into a fighting ball club which is keeping the turnstiles humming wherever it appears. We strongly recommend that you see the Browns and their shortstop before Marty runs out of gas.

Though the grinning veteran still stoutly maintains he will play 125 games, it seems fair to say that he is an optimist. The major knee operation he underwent during the winter makes that member a gamble. No matter how good it feels now, and the back trouble which has plagued Marty for several seasons still forces him to sleep on a board, they say. Also, there will be those 90-degree days along in July and August.

But as long as the thin man maintains his present pace he will be worth watching and the Browns will not fold. He makes you realize how thoroughly silly it is to pick any club to win a pennant unless it possesses a really fine shortstop. He makes us recall what Marjorie McCarthy said one Spring night in Panama: "After July 4 your shortstop is your ball club."

Marty might be a half-step

Buckeye P.T.A. Fetes Teachers

Teachers of the Buckeye school were honored Thursday evening at a party sponsored at the school by the Buckeye Parent-Teachers association.

A musical program was presented. It included an accordion selection by Carol Jean Bracke, a piano number by Linda Waeghe, an accordion solo by Mary Lou Waeghe and an accordion selection by Alfred Jugo.

Cards were played as the evening's diversion.

Each of the honored guests was presented with a gift.

The lunch was in charge of Mrs. Gene Thorbahn, Mrs. Hilding Peterson and Mrs. Ken Moreau.

The next meeting will be held next Thursday at which time officers are to be installed. Men of the association will be in charge of the program and the lunch.

Beverly Creten Becomes Bride Of Peter Peterson

A floor length gown of white chintilly lace over white satin designed with a short jacket and long tapering sleeves which came to points at the wrist was worn by Miss Beverly Joan Creten when she and Peter Daniel Peterson were united in marriage at a double ring ceremony at nine this morning at All Saints Catholic church. Her finger tip veil was trimmed with lace to match her gown and was held in place by a tiara of lace and seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Baskets of snapdragons and sweetpeas decorated the church altar for the occasion. Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette was celebrant of the nuptial Mass with the student choir singing. As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father the traditional wedding march was played and at the recessional "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

Mrs. Walter Murrell of Milwaukee, a close friend of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a yellow tulle strapless gown with a cape and matching headband and carried a colonial bouquet of snapdragons. The bridesmaid, Miss Patricia Curtis of Escanaba, a cousin of the bride, chose a blue tulle strapless gown with a matching cape and headband. Snapdragons formed her colonial bouquet. The little flower girls, Diane Peterson, cousin of the groom and Constance Verhamme, cousin of the bride wore like gowns of white satin with Dutch style satin caps and carried miniature colonial bouquets of snapdragons. Billy Curtis, also a cousin of the bride, was dressed in a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

James Peterson served his brother as best man and Harland Clark ushered.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Creten chose a dusty rose suit with navy accessories and a corsage of sweetpeas. The groom's mother wore a street length dress of mauve color with dusty rose accessories. Sweetpeas formed her corsage.

A wedding breakfast for members of the bridal party was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Paul Verhamme, and a wedding dinner for immediate members of both families was served at the log cabin. A reception for over 200 hundred invited guests is being held later in the day at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Andrew Robare.

The destination of their wedding trip is undisclosed and for traveling the bride will wear a check suit with navy and white accessories. Upon their return,

40 Hours Devotion Opens On Sunday

A beautiful devotion in honor of Our Blessed Lord in the sacrament of the Holy Eucharist, known as the Forty Hours Devotion, is to be conducted in All Saints' Catholic Church this weekend.

The devotion will begin at the high mass on Sunday and conclude on Monday evening.

From the start, the devotion will continue without interruption with parishioners taking turns spending an hour or more in worship. This means that there will be worshippers in the church continuously all day Sunday, Sunday night and all day Monday.

For the convenience of parishioners, confessions are to be heard this afternoon, Sunday evening and Monday afternoon and evening.

they will reside at 1520 Minneapolis avenue.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Gladstone High school, class of 1949. The bride is employed at the Escanaba Paper Company and the groom is employed at the Red Owl store.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Creten, North 14th street and the groom is a son of Mrs. Andrew Robare, 701 Montana avenue.

Luxuries Of GI In Germany Cut

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY
FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — The U. S. Army announced today it is taking steps "at once" to eliminate certain luxury services enjoyed by occupation troops in Germany.

The announcement set June 30 as the target date to put an end to free domestic and other personal services paid for by Germans from occupation costs. The action apparently ended the army's quarrel with the state department, which has been nagging big and little brass to get rid of its fads and frills.

U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy hailed the army announcement as evidence of "real cooperation."

The announcement detailed the reduction program only as "several categories, principally for personal services, clubs, etc.," but made no mention of special military excursion trains to resort areas which had also been under criticism by state department spokesmen.

The controversy was first aired April 8 when former assistant U. S. High Commissioner Chauncey Parker said prior to his return to the United States:

"We have been urging the army for months to divest itself of these services." He declared that although the money for army luxuries comes out of occupation costs, in the final analysis the U. S. taxpayer picks up the check, since he "is holding the bag in terms of aid and other things that come over to Germany."

Lunch Scattered

DETROIT — (AP) — Sandwiches, pickles, mustard and relish were spread over Fort street today when a jeep towing three catering lunch wagons to an auto plant collided with a car. Fifty gallons of coffee helped wash some of the litter down the drains.

Charmed Granny, 94, Votes For First Time

RIVIERA BEACH, Md. — (AP) — Captivated by the charm of a young (56) politician, Mrs. Letitia Virginia (Granny) Groves has decided at 94 to vote for the first time.

Granny used to say women should leave the running of the country to "their men." But after meeting state Sen. Louis N. Phipps at her first political rally, Granny decided to vote for him because he's a "good man."

Granny has quite a faction to swing to the candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Fifth Maryland district.

Eleven of her 18 children are still living, and she has 40 grandchildren and 45 great-grandchildren.

Old Japanese Sob As Emperor Talks Of Independence

TOKYO — (AP) — Emperor Hirohito today called on his people to "keep faith with other nations" and see "the previous mistake is not repeated."

The Emperor, with Empress Nagako at his side, spoke at a formal celebration of Japan's new independence that came with the end of the Allied occupation Monday.

The ceremony was held in the Imperial Plaza where May Day Communist-inspired anti-American riots left one dead and 1,200 injured.

The scene today was quiet as more than 5,000 armed police and 500 khaki-clad infantry of Japan's budding army stood guard.

As the Emperor spoke, the old people sobbed from emotion. The young listened politely.

The Emperor did not use the word surrender but did refer to his famous broadcast seven years ago accepting surrender terms laid down by the Allies. At the same time he spoke warmly of American and Allied good will shown Japan since then.

Wages May Be Raised Monday By Government

was reported ready to go with the immediate 12½ cents and extra money for such things as paid holidays and shift differentials. Pay now is just under $2 an hour including overtime.

Expressions of hope came from all sides as the principals met at the White House.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, boss of the mills under government seizure, led off in the statements of qualified optimism that there might be a settlement:

"I hope so. I'm making no predictions."

Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp., following the secretary into the White House, took about the same view:

"I always have hope. Hope is eternal."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO-Steelworkers, made it unanimous:

"I don't have a thing to say except that I am hopeful."

Truman, who has sided with the union and accused the industry of being "reckless," was to meet up with Clarence Randall, the Inland Steel president who charged the President with making "a corrupt political deal" with Murray.

It was reliably reported the meeting was a last-ditch administration effort to arrange an industry-union contract agreement and that, if it failed, Truman was ready to give Murray's 650,000 union members the pay raise they want.

The three-day strike was over, called off by Murray yesterday on Truman's plea. Some steel firms were balking, however, at heating their open hearths and blast furnaces again for fear another quick strike might wreck the expensive facilities. They demanded "assurance of continuing operations."

Meantime, the great legal battle over constitutionality of the government seizure was in the lap of the Supreme Court. The justices gathered for a regular Saturday conference on pending cases, and they could rule today on part or all of the complicated litigation.

The court may very well delay action until Monday, a regular court opinion day, or even later. Two main points are to be decided. One is an industry plea—opposed by the government and Murray's CIO Steelworkers Union—that the administration be prohibited from raising steel wages while the industry is under government control.

The other point is whether the high court will rule on the basic legal question: was the seizure a violation of the President's power limitations under the Constitution, or a proper exercise of his functions?

This question, as important as it is from the standpoint of future definition of executive power, may never reach a final Supreme Court ruling if the labor dispute is settled, because the case quite possibly would then be dropped.

Sawyer has said that the government may grant a steel price increase of $4.50 a ton or more to offset a pay hike. He stressed there is a great deal of "elasticity" on the price question, indicating the government would go to $5 or more. The industry has publicly asked for a much greater price boost than that, but some officials said the industry would take a $3.50-a-ton increase.

READY TO LIFT FREEZE

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The National Production Authority said today the ban on steel shipments may be lifted early next week if steel production returns to "normal."

Henry H. Fowler, NPA chief, said the ban on shipping steel from warehouses would remain "as long as there is any doubt about the resolving of the strike situation."

The freeze was ordered last Tuesday to preserve all available steel for vital defense production. It bars steel shipments from warehouses to exporters and to manufacturers of civilian-type goods "to preserve the existing supply" for defense production.

Police School Guards Robbed Of $11,354

NEW YORK — (AP) — The art of catching crooks has been taught to some 50,000 policemen at the Delahanty Institute. Yesterday the "art" of payroll robbery was taught to two guards on the institute's doorsteps.

The guards—Benjamin Blumenfeld, 35, and Isidore Meichenbaum, 35—were robbed of the institute's $11,354 cash payroll as they walked up to the entrance.

A pair of gunmen shoved pistols in the guards' backs, forced them into an old car, drove them the length of Manhattan to Harlem, and there left the two—minus the payroll—in a tenement hallway.

Sober Fisherman Catches Monkey

BEL AIR, Md. — (AP) — If John Panaski goes home to Coatsville, Pa., today without any fish at least he'll have a good monkey story to tell.

Panaski was driving leisurely down U. S. 1 last night, bound for the Susquehanna River and some early morning fishing when—out of nowhere—a monkey came sailing through the open car window.

The monkey wore a hat, coat and pants and even had its nails manicured.

Panaski was cold sober as state troopers soon attested when Panaski, harried by the amorous advances of the monkey and finding driving hazardous with the creature scurrying all over him pulled up at the State Police barracks at nearby Darlington.

As Panaski told his hard-to-believe story to the troopers, the monkey made a break for it, dashed out an open door and ran down the highway.

Six state troopers in six patrol cars and Panaski gave chase. For one hour they patrolled the highway until finally, Panaski spotted the monkey sitting on a fence post.

No amount of coaxing could get the troopers within grabbing range, but when Panaski tried, the monkey leaped into his adopted friend's arms.

After seeing the monkey securely tethered at the state police barracks, Panaski went off to his fishing destination.

State troopers turned the monkey over to the SPCA here, still wondering where the little animal came from. The nearest carnival was playing 15 miles away.

Willie The Actor Back In Sing Sing With 1932 Number

OSSINING, N. Y. — (AP) — Bank robber Willie "The Actor" Sutton was back in Sing Sing prison today—with the same number he had when he escaped from there in 1932.

The notorious, slick convict arrived at Sing Sing last night. He was treated as a veteran inmate: Receiving his old "84599" number, and being assigned to a segregation building rather than a "rookie" company.

Sutton, 52, was brought here from New York City only a few hours after Queens County Judge Peter T. Farrell sentenced him to 30 years to life for the $64,000 robbery of a Queens bank two years ago.

He already was under life imprisonment on other charges, but none of these sentences "start" until he has served out 29 years he owes New York State as a result of his 1932 conviction and escape.

Thomas (Seup) Kling, his key henchman, also received a 30 years to life prison sentence yesterday in the robbery of the Queens bank, a branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co. Kling remained in a New York City jail.

Cassidy Lake Youth Died Of Stab Wound, Investigation Shows

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — A 17-year-old inmate of the Cassidy Lake state training camp died of a stab wound in the heart, Harold Swoverland, chief investigator of the Washtenaw county sheriff's department reported today.

The body of Anthony G. Bedard of Detroit was found in a cistern at the camp Thursday. It had been weighted with a concrete block. The youth had been missing from the camp since March 31.

Because of the condition of the body, the stab wound was not discovered until last night when another examination was made by Dr. James A. French, pathologist at University Hospital.

Swoverland said it appeared to be a case of murder but there was no clue as to the motive or identity of the killer.

creased night shift differentials.

The average wage ranges from $2 to $2.10. Differentials would go up from 4 to 6 cents from the 4 p. m. to midnight shift and from 6 to 12 cents from midnight to dawn.

Filling station pumps slowly were running dry in a few scattered mid-western areas. In Denver, some independent chains started a gasoline war with prices dropping two cents a gallon.

STATIONS GO DRY

DETROIT — (AP) — Three more oil companies were cut off from supplies here today as the strike by CIO Oil Workers put a further crimp in the gasoline situation.

More than half of Detroit's 3,000 filling stations reportedly were either dry or following some form of rationing.

A Toledo-Detroit line serving the Sun Oil Co. and the Hi-Speed Co. was shut off. The strikers also closed a Chicago-Detroit line supplying Sinclair gasoline.

This left only two firms unaffected by the strike—Speedway Products Corp. and the Cities Service Co. Among those cut off are Shell, Standard, Texas Texas, Gulf and Socony-Vacuum.

The automobile club of Michigan said, however, that it is not discouraging weekend travel in Michigan and surrounding states.

"The worst that could happen at the moment," it said, "would be a spot shortage here and there."

Wall Street

By RADAR WINGET

NEW YORK — (AP) — The stock market turned mixed today after a higher opening.

Trading was quiet. Price changes were fractional.

Everyone in the market appeared to be holding to the sidelines awaiting the outcome of the White House conference between the government, management and workers in the steel industry fight over wages and prices.

The market demonstrated yesterday its ability to rush ahead strongly on what it considers good news.

Yesterday's advance was the greatest for any session in around five and a half years as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The average gained $1.80, best since Dec. 9, 1946.

Today in the mixed category were rails, oils, non-ferrous metals, and chemicals. Unchanged to higher were steels, rubbers, and aircrafts. Unchanged to lower were motors and distillers. All of the major categories moved quietly.

Higher were Bethlehem Steel, Santa Fe, Texas Co., and Anaconda Copper.

Lower were Chrysler, Baltimore & Ohio, Phelps Dodge, and Allied Chemical.

Corporate bonds started unchanged to a bit higher.

Transferred Trustees Escape At Detroit

DETROIT — (AP) — Two trustees, among a group of 42 transferred here from southern Michigan prison during last week's riots, disappeared from the Detroit house of correction today.

The missing men were listed as William Struthers, 24, of Port Huron, who was serving one-to-five years for breaking and entering, and Alfred Klyne, 38, of Detroit, serving two-to-four years for theft.

Authorities said neither man was considered dangerous.

Dr. Sutherland has challenged the legality of the method by which the county convention picked its delegates, but party leaders expected him and his associates to be rejected by the convention credentials committee and the "official" delegation to be seated.

Williams himself has given public weight to the idea that his "favorite son" role is not intended to click this year, but is designed to build him up nationally for a possible try at the Presidency four years from now.

Americans Down 4 Communist Jets

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down four Communist jet planes and damaged a Red propeller-driven fighter in two sunset air battles over northwest Korea, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said tonight.

The jet scraps took place near the Yalu River, boundary between Korea and Manchuria, and produced America's 13th jet ace, Capt. Robert T. Latshaw Jr., Amarillo, Texas.

In one fight 19 Sabres tangled with about 15 MiGs.

In the second battle 40 Sabres battled an undetermined number of Red planes.

Earlier Saturday Sabre sweeps to the Yalu had met no opposition.

Allied fight - bombers Friday night destroyed 50 Communist supply vehicles in raids over northwest Korea.

Republicans And Governor Swap Punches In Press

looked coldly on the Democrats, and assorted Republicans kept up a drum fire of criticism.

Those Dirty Dogs
Don't think Williams took all this lying down. He and his nimble-fingered press secretary, Paul Weber, raced back and forth like paperhangers in a Keystone comedy, trying to keep up with the barrage, and like all good strategists, trying to regain the advantage with their own accusations against the G. O. P.

It would have taken a belt conveyor to carry all the press statements into the capitol press rooms.

Every time Williams' signed or vetoed a bill he gave the news hounds a three-page speech on what dirty dogs the Republicans had turned out to be.

Every time Williams vetoed a bill, a buxom little stenographer raced down the hall to the press room with somebody's well-phrased outcries of amazed anger, eight copies for all the reporters and did we make your deadline, boys?

Every Republican chief had such clear cut ideas of how he would have settled the prison riot it's a wonder some of them didn't give Williams the benefit of their ideas while it was still unsettled.

All Seek Limeright
Part of the new infighting results from the Republican employment of their own press chief, Arnold J. Levin, to counter-act Weber. Part of it results from the fact that there are a score of top Republican candidates seeking the limeright, while there is only one Williams to lead the Democratic attack.

Part of it results from the wind-up of the Legislature and the name calling which always follows a summing up of accomplishments and failures.

And, of course, a lot of it results from the Republican feeling and the Democratic fear that the prison riot has been Williams' biggest setback in popular esteem since he took office. The G. O. P. senses a popular reaction against the settlement of the mutiny and means to make the most of it.

So, it's hand me down my typewriter and—copy, boy!

To Use Aerifier In Spiking Greens

Hoping to complete reconditioning work with a new aerifier at the Indian Lake golf course Sunday, another work project call has been issued by R. G. Hentschell, president of the Indian Lake Country Club.

Golfers desiring to assist are requested to report at the golf course by 9 a. m., Sunday. Those attending worship services at various churches are asked to report at the course following church.

The aerifier, purchased this week by the club, will be used in reconditioning greens for summer play. The power-operated machines will spike a green in less than an hour.

A crew of workers, equipped with metal lawn brooms, will be needed to rake the greens following spiking and another crew will be required to finish the job by applying top dressing.

A demonstration of the new spiking machine was viewed Thursday by club directors and members of the grounds committee.

Formal opening of the course for golfing is expected to take place Sunday, May 11, Hentschell reported.

Male Chorus To Give Concert

The Bethel College Male chorus of St. Paul, will present a sacred concert at Bethel Baptist church at 8 p. m., Monday, May 5.

The program will consist of numbers by the male chorus, assisted by a trumpet trio and the Courier Quartet. The quartet returned last fall from an extended concert tour of the Scandinavian countries where they drew large audiences and received much favorable publicity. The chorus, which has been much in demand in the Twin City area, is on a tour of the conference churches of Michigan.

Prof. Nels Stjernstrom, director of the chorus, is music instructor at Bethel College and director of music at the First American Baptist church, Minneapolis.
